C. O. Robinson Dies In Hospital

Charles O. Robinson, 75, well-known Richland county farmer and auctioneer, died at 4:50 p. m. yesterday in People's hospital approximately two hours after he was injured in an accident near the new TB sanatorium on State Route 39.

Mr. Robinson, who had resided for the past two years at 608 West Fourth street, suffered a crushed chest when a car driven by his son and business partner, Neil S. Robinson, swerved into a ditch on the road.

State highway patrolmen said the car made a complete turn on the rain-slicked highway and that the elderly man was thrown out of the back door of the car during the turn. As far as could be determined, the elder Robinson was then crushed by the car which swerved into the bank where he was thrown. The accident occurred during a rain-storm southeast of the city.

Mr. Robinson was the 14th person to die in traffic accidents in Richland county this year. Ten persons lost their lives in the same period last year.

2 OTHERS UNHURT
Patrolmen said neither Neil Robinson nor Ray Cochran, both of Mansfield, who were riding in the front seat of the car, was injured. Officers said the mishap occurred two and four-tenths miles southeast of the city as the Robinsons and Cochran were traveling toward Lucas.

The younger Robinson resides at 1179 Springfield road. Mr. Robinson was the senior partner of Robinson and Robinson, auctioneers and real estate dealers. He began as an auctioneer when 15 years old.

Born in Weller township on Aug. 11, 1873, Mr. Robinson spent his entire life in the Mansfield vicinity. He retired from farming two years ago. He was a member of St. Matthew's Lutheran church of Mansfield and of the Farm Bureau.

Besides his son, Neil, he is survived by his wife, Phoebe Fendrich Robinson; two other sons, Kenneth of Mansfield, and W. Dale of Lucas; seven grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; three brothers, M. R. Robinson of Weller township; E. R. Robinson of Mansfield, and John S. Robinson, judge of the Superior court of Olympia, Wash.

Funerary services will be held at 9 p. m. Saturday at St. Matthew's Lutheran church, conducted by Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, pastor of the First Christian church who will officiate in the absence of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff. Burial will be in Mansfield Memorial park.

The body will remain until noon Saturday at the Wapner funeral home where friends may call.

PUSH JEWEL THEFT PROBE
NICE — (INS) — Hundreds of French police, detectives and border guards scoured the swank Riviera today for four daring bandits who ambushed the enormously wealthy Aga Khan and his beautiful wife yesterday and robbed them at gun-point of $600,000 in gems.

Road blocks were thrown up and manned in the Cannes area, and seaports and airports were closely watched to guard against a sea or air escape by the gang.

Red Data 'Lulling' Legislators

Administration Plan Backfires

WASHINGTON — (UP) — House foreign affairs experts said today they were more lulled than alarmed by secret data about Russia which the administration hoped would spur action on the $1,450,000,000 arms aid plan.

Figures on the Soviet military machine were presented to the House foreign affairs committee at two closed door sessions yesterday, in hopes that the information would convince the wary law-makers immediate action on the arms program is necessary.

Several members, however, said the information had a directly opposite effect on them. "It was more lulling than alarming," Rep. James G. Fulton, R., Pa., said. "The administration refused to say that this is an emergency. Yet its representatives say the program is immediately necessary. Then figures are presented that are not in the least startling."

Reps. Walter H. Judd, R., Minn., and John M. Vorys, R., Ohio, agreed. Even a Democrat who usually supports the administration said he also felt the figures were "anything but shocking."

House Fire Investigated

Second Blaze Destroys Home

Mansfield firemen today asked Sheriff E. P. Long to aid in an investigation of a fire which last night destroyed a three-room home on West Longview avenue.

The fire, second at the home in the past two days, destroyed the small residence of Philip Klug, Dominion Electric night watchman. Central aid No. 2 station firemen answered the alarm at 4:13 p. m. yesterday.

At 7:56 p. m. Tuesday, firemen from No. 2 station were called to the house when the porch caught fire.

Firemen said they believed the fire had been started on the inside of the house. The cause, however, is still undetermined. The owner, away from the house at the time, told firemen he suspected an acquaintance, identified only as "Blackie."

Questioned by The News-Journal today on the progress of the investigation, sheriff's deputies replied that they "did not investigate fires unless witnesses saw a fire started" and that "it's up to the state fire marshal to do the investigating."

The West Longview avenue fire was one of four answered by firemen yesterday. At 1:20 p. m. firemen from Central aid No. 5 went to 110 Marion avenue on a false alarm.

A blazing tub of trash at the Trent Hill home, 67 Stewart lane, brought Central aid No. 5 firemen to the scene at 10:45 p. m. and at 11:05 p. m. firemen from Central aid No. 2 stations went to the rear of the Masia building on East Temple court where a short in outside wiring burned the insulation on the telephone wires. Firemen said damage was confined to the outside of the building.

Sees No Hope For Tax Cut

Truman Spurns Arms Power

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman said today it will be impossible to repeal any excise taxes before the next session of Congress.

The President told a news conference the subject will require a great deal of research by Senate and House taxation committees as well as by the Treasury department.

He said it would be at least the next session before anything can be done.

This was in line with views previously expressed by congressional leaders after Mr. Truman advocated repeal of the transportation tax on goods in his last economic message to Congress.

House Democratic Leader McCormack said after a conference with Mr. Truman recently that if the question of repealing excise taxes was opened, there was no way of knowing how much revenue the government might lose.

BLASTS ARMS CUT

President Truman opposed any reduction in the $1,450,000,000 he has asked for arming foreign countries, but he said he doesn't care anything about having blank-check powers.

The foreign arms bill pending in Congress would permit the President to send weapons to any country whose arming he thinks would help the United States.

When asked about this clause at his news conference, Mr. Truman said he doesn't particularly care whether it remains in the bill. He said all he wants is to see that European pact countries are properly taken care of.

A reporter asked whether it is true that Mrs. Roosevelt has offered to resign as a member of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations because of a difference with Francis Cardinal Spellman over federal aid to education.

Mr. Truman replied that Mrs. Roosevelt offered to resign—as she does every year—just to give him a free hand to appoint anyone he wants.

But he said she's going back to the United Nations in her same job.

The President said Mrs. Roosevelt expressed no reason for her offer. He said he thought it was only her customary politeness, and noted that she made her annual offer at the usual time.

Youths Rob Cars, Escape Into Sewers

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Police here are looking for a group of youths who are using the tactics of Jean Valjean, the fictional character who fled the law through the sewers of Paris.

For the last six months, a group of boys have been hunted in connection with the looting of parked automobiles and repeated burglaries at a west side club.

Always they have escaped police right in the middle of a chase.

The police said they have been tipped the boys lower themselves by a rope into a boat in a six-foot sewer at the street intersection.

Deputy Sheriff Foster Palmer of Lexington learned yesterday that a law enforcement officer is never on vacation.

He took a "busman's holiday" and rounded up three youths wanted by Virginia state authorities for obtaining $500 under false pretenses. The money, Palmer said, was drawn from the bank account of the father of a 14-year-old member of the trio.

4-Party Line 50 Cents More

'Phone Rate Would Top Hamilton's

A four-party line telephone in Mansfield would cost 50 cents more a month than the same phone in Hamilton if the Ohio Public Utilities Commission grants the local company its requested rate increase. Hamilton is in Mansfield's population class.

Hamilton has no eight-party lines in the city, and the telephone service has shown "considerable improvement since the war," the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce reports.

There is no extra charge for a "cradle phone" in Hamilton.

In Mansfield, if the telephone company's application is approved, a cradle phone on a four-party line would cost $3.25 a month. In Hamilton, that phone would cost $2.75 a month, according to C. L. Hardin, secretary-manager of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce.

And the Hamilton figure includes a 25-cent rate increase granted by the PUCCO on July 16, 1949.

A private telephone in Hamilton costs $3.75 a month, while a cradle phone on a private line in Mansfield would cost $4 if the telephone company's application is approved.

No comparison can be made of the Mansfield company's $2.25 a month figure on eight-party line phones. Hamilton has only two and four-party lines in the city.

Hamilton is one of a group of cities being surveyed by the N-J in an attempt to judge the fairness of the Mansfield phone company's request for an increase. - Rural phones on a 10-party line would cost 75 cents a month above Hamilton's figure, if the resident has a cradle phone. Will File Protests On Buzzing Practice

By MIKE MEREDITH
(Chicago Herald-American Staff Writer)

CHICAGO — (INS) — President David L. Behncke of the 9,000-member Airlines Pilots association charged today military planes are making airline and civilian craft "targets" in training "dog fights."

Behncke, who also is president of the International Federation of Airlines Pilot associations comprising 17 such groups all over the world, declared the "buzzing" endangers the military pilots as well as thousands of passengers.

Behncke told the Herald-American his protests will be made to National Defense Secretary Johnson; the Civil Aeronautics Board; individual heads of the Army, Navy, and Air Forces, and to the Air Safety Board recently created by President Truman.

The APA head declared: "This buzzing must stop at once. It endangers the pilots who must be used should war come—who would be the first to go, just as they went in World War II—as well as endangering the thousands of passengers."

"The danger is greater now than it ever has been. It occurred periodically before, and there have been complaints. But the danger was not as great then as it is now for this reason: the extremely hazardous speeds of equipment developed both for military purposes and for airlines."

NOT DONE ON ORDERS
Behncke said there is no doubt that there are no orders from

"military high authorities" for pilots to buzz commercial and private planes, but asserted: "There evidently are orders to have these men keep abreast of all military tactics. But the commercial and private pilots and all passengers must get full protection from the military."

"We are at peace. If they want to go into air maneuvers, let them set aside areas for that purpose."

Forecast Boost In Wheat Price

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Agriculture department predicted today wheat prices will advance gradually after the summer peak in market movement.

The advance, the department said, should take prices to or slightly above the level at which the government is making price-supporting loans. That level averages about $1.95 a bushel at the farm. Prices of winter wheat at the present were said to be running around 20 cents a bushel below the loan rate.

day, are: Graden L. Thomas, 18, and T. C. Dotson, 23, both of Drill, Va., and held in county jail, and Frank Martin jr., 14, also of Drill, held in juvenile cell in city jail.

Palmer said the senior Martin told him the youths took his bank book from his home and obtained the money from his savings account in a Drill bank. The book was then returned to the home. When picked up the youths were riding in a car owned by the Thomas youth.

Asks For Rooming Decontrol

Claims Space Now Plentiful

Area Housing Expediter George H. Blecker said today he has asked Federal Housing Expediter Tighe Wood to decontrol sleeping rooms in the Mansfield area.

Blecker said he was hopeful that the request would be granted by Wood's office within the next few days. The action would remove controls on rooming houses.

He explained that any private home which has more than two roomers is classified as a rooming house by housing regulations. Private homes that had two or less roomers were never affected by the controls.

ROOMS PLENTIFUL
"The action was taken as a result of a survey made by this office which showed rooms were plentiful in Mansfield. Because of the abundance of sleeping rooms the controls are no longer needed," Blecker said.

"If the roomer is dissatisfied with the rent or anything else then he is free to move to another room—and there are plenty available," he added.

The survey revealed that there are many "room for rent" signs on houses in Mansfield for the first time since the controls went into effect on Nov. 1, 1942, Blecker said.

Invaders Hit Korea

Troops Surge Across Line

SEOUL — (INS) — An estimated 4,000 to 5,000 North Korean communist troops surged across the 38th parallel boundary on the Ongjin peninsula today in the heaviest northern invasion yet to strike into South Korea.

In fierce fighting provoked by the large-scale communist attack, two South Korean infantry companies, comprising 250 men, were annihilated, according to word received in Seoul.

The North Korean forces, consisting of troops of the "People's Army" as well as border units, opened their southward onslaught across the parallel at 5 o'clock this morning.

The northern forces attacked at three widely separated points along the 38th parallel on the peninsula. The depth of their penetration into South Korean territory was not yet known.

Soon after smashing across the border the northern invaders set up artillery pieces within shell range of Ongjin peninsula's South Korean army regimental headquarters which is on the outskirts of Ongjin city.

Claims Double Netted Plenty

NEW YORK — (AP) — Dennison Duble got thousands of dollars from a crooked $50,000,000-a-year numbers racket ring—and not just the first hundred he reported at first—a district attorney's spokesman said last night.

The spokesman, who gave no official estimate of the total, said the lottery ring paid Duble amounts "nearer five figures than $500."

Duble, 59, resigned as secretary of the Cincinnati Clearing House association recently after alleged members of the ring were rounded up in New York City and New Jersey.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan has said Duble admitted manipulating the daily published totals of the association's bank clearings in a scheme to cut down the ring's payoffs.

Weidemaier Quits As VA Office Head

Swain Named To Succeed Him

Glen D. Weidemaier, announced his resignation today as officer in charge of the Mansfield Veterans Administration office. His resignation will become effective at the close of business tomorrow.

William L. Marlan, manager of the Cleveland region, today appointed Charles A. Swain, now chief of the vocational, rehabilitation and educational section, as Weidemaier's successor.

"I am resigning to take a job in private industry," Weidemaier said. He would not elaborate on this except to say that his plans have not been completed. He will take a few weeks' vacation, including a trip to Florida, before starting his new job.

Weidemaier has been with the VA four years. He was appointed manager of the Mansfield office when it changed from a contact office to a sub-regional office on March 1, 1946. He expressed hope that he will remain in Mansfield.

A member of the Board of Control of the Exchange Club, Weidemaier also has been a second vice president and now is a first vice president of that organization. He is a member of the American Legion and the YMCA physical education committee.

The 29-year-old Swain has been with the VA for three years. He was a training officer in the local office until Feb. 1, 1947 when he was appointed acting chief of the vocational, rehabilitation and educational section.

A graduate of Ashland College in Aug. 1941, Swain is married and the father of two sons, aged five and three. He lives in Vetsville. Swain is a native of Lucas. He entered the service on March 30, 1942 and served as a flying instructor, standardization board member and squadron commander. He was discharged with the rank of captain on Jan. 13, 1946.

Forecaster Repeats

Yesterday's weather, except for the rain, is due for a repeat performance today, according to the weatherman. It will be the same tomorrow, too, if the forecast doesn't miss.

The mercury will not go higher than 85 at any point in the state today and it is expected to drop between 60 and 65 degrees tonight.

The weatherman said there is no sign of a heat wave until after Saturday.

Yesterday's high reading was 82 degrees at 12:30 p. m., according to the CAA station at Municipal airport. Today's low of 63 degrees came at 2 a. m.

There was only a trace of rainfall in Mansfield yesterday afternoon, but heavy showers fell just east of the city and Canton reported a near-cloudburst.

But folks in the New England area still are in the midst of a drought. All the New England states except Maine were listed as disaster areas today because of the extended drought.

Farmers who have exhausted all credit sources in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island now are eligible for low-interest federal loans.

Fall Vote Believed Assured

Petitions Still To Be Checked

City council opened the way last night for Mansfielders to decide in November whether they want the council-manager form of government.

Councilmen unanimously approved an ordinance to place the question on the ballot at the general election. The ordinance won't be effective, however, until it is determined whether there are enough valid signatures on petitions submitted to council.

Petitions supporting a vote on the council-manager plan must have 1,800 valid signatures. The 98 petitions bear 2,233 signatures, some of which may be ruled out when a check is made, city officials said.

At the close of its meeting, council passed an informal resolution to check the petitions for the validity and number of signatures before the ordinance becomes law, which is 30 days from time it was passed.

City Solicitor C. J. Kalfbleisch told council the Ohio constitution "places the question of determining the validity and sufficiency of the petitions directly in council's lap."

An informal resolution approved by council ordered the city solicitor to determine the validity and sufficiency of the petitions by the same measure as is used by the board of elections.

If some of the signers are not registered voters, their signatures won't count, Kalfbleisch said.

Meanwhile, the city solicitor said he would check the petitions with the board of elections to determine if all of the signers are registered voters. "He said" the job should be completed in less than 10 days, when the first advertisement of the ordinance is scheduled.

The ordinance approved by council places on the ballot the question: "Shall a commission be chosen to frame a charter."

It provides for the election of 15 members of a charter commission to frame the charter, which will then be submitted to the voters, probably in 1950.

This charter will have a provision for a council-manager form of municipal government, which will replace Mansfield's mayor with a city manager. Election of councilmen by ward will also be discontinued under a council-manager charter. All councilmen would be elected by a city-wide vote.

Says Ohio Doing OK

CINCINNATI — (INS) — U. S. Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer continued his pulse-taking of Ohio's economic health today in Cincinnati, his birthplace.

Sawyer spent an entire day meeting with labor, business and industrial leaders yesterday in Cleveland, where he received assurances that Ohio is emerging from the recession.

After hearing the various reports, Sawyer declared that "there are some spots in Ohio where business is bad, but on the whole the picture is encouraging."

"There is plenty of money in Ohio, if people will spend it," Sawyer emphasized that no group he met with saw any need for a public works program at this time.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Flames roared through the main yards of the Elephant Lumber company on the south side early today, causing a loss estimated between $300,000 and $400,000.

He'd Better Drain Pool To Save It!

CLEVELAND — (AP) — City Councilman Irwyn Metzenbaum was at a loss today as to the right method of preventing damage to the Forest Hills municipal swimming pool.

Tuesday night he erected a sign at the pool offering a $50 reward for information leading to the capture and conviction of anyone damaging the property.

Last night, someone stole the sign.

Hebert Bares Army Clothing Deal Offered By James Hunt

Asked Cash For Use of Influence

Tried Deal With Uniform Firms

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D., La., said yesterday a clothing industry executive has named James V. Hunt as the man who offered, for a $25,000 fee, to try and get the army to reverse an order on procurement of officers' uniforms.

Hebert said that Stanley J. Cummings, executive secretary of the National Association of Uniform Manufacturers, told him "the whole story" three weeks ago.

Hunt, a former army lieutenant colonel, now is a "management counselor." His activities as an alleged influence peddler prompted an investigation of Washington "five per centers" by the Senate investigating subcommittee. Hebert is chairman of a House armed services subcommittee looking into some phases of the influence peddling racket.

Cummings was to have appeared before a closed session of Hebert's subcommittee yesterday, but Hebert said he had been unable to reach Cummings, who apparently is on vacation.

Hebert said he did not think Cummings' appearance before the subcommittee is necessary at this time since Cummings already had told him "the whole story" of the offer.

The offer, he said, involved a pending army decision to make and sell its own uniforms. Uniform manufacturers were concerned lest the order ruin their business.

In this situation, Hebert quoted Cummings, Hunt asked for a $5,000 down payment, plus $20,000, if he succeeded in getting the army order reversed. Cummings and other industry officials reportedly rejected the proposition.

Aged Woman Credits Long Life To Pipe

CINCINNATI (INS)—On the eve of her 99th birthday, Grandma Rhoades credited her long life in Cincinnati yesterday to 94 years of uninterrupted pipe smoking.

"If you want to get rid of me," she said, "just take my pipe away."

Grandma Rhoades, who lives on Cincinnati's north side, was born in the middle of the last century as the first signs of an impending war between the states appeared.

She had 14 children, six of whom are still alive.

8 Graduate From B. G.

Eight area students are being graduated from Bowling Green university Friday. President Frank J. Prout will confer 213 bachelor's and master's degrees on the largest summer session graduating class in the history of the university.

Those being graduated from this area include Winifred Holm, Attica; Mary Finnegan, Crestline; Arden Marett, New London, R. D. 2; Antonia Johnston, Shelby; Ila Pettit, Tiro, R. D. 1; Joseph Moore, Bucyrus; Kenneth Myers, Hicksville; and Dudley Lewis, Shelby.

The last three named are among the first group ever to be graduated, from Bowling Green with degrees in Bachelor of Science in Business Administration.

Cummings and other industry officials reportedly rejected the proposition.

Urges New Wage Law

BOSTON (UP)—Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin Wednesday urged increased benefits for labor as national "insurance against a depression."

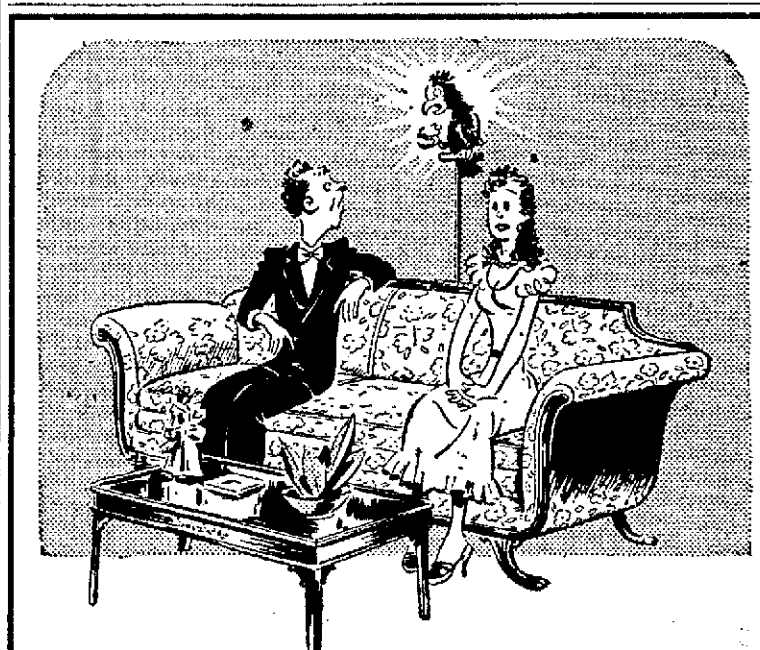

Addressing the 63rd annual Massachusetts AFL convention, Tobin reiterated his advocacy of a 75 cents an hour minimum wage law.

He also supported President Truman's recommendation for increased old-age insurance benefits and broader coverage under the Fair Labor Standards law.

"If we can establish in this nation a 75-cent-an-hour minimum wage," he said, "we will be putting a stronger floor under the economic structure which, in my opinion, will contribute to avoiding another depression."

The present 40-cent-an-hour minimum wage law, he said, is "not realistic" in view of inflationary forces which became operative when OPA was suspended in June 1946.

Richland To Keep 3-Number Auto Tags Rest of Year

Auto license plates are running into four figures in some Ohio counties, but Jack Berger, Mansfield registrar of motor vehicles, said today that only three-number plates will be issued in Mansfield for the rest of the year.

"We ran out of the regular supply of plates assigned to us some time ago, but the additional supply sent us is in three series numbers," Berger added.

Richland County was sent 15,184 plates in March when the new plates went on sale. The plates ran from VU - 51 through VU - 999, or 949 plates a set. There were 16 sets of plates ranging from Vu to Wk, with the exception of Wl, assigned to Richland County.

When the supply ran out, plates were sent to Mansfield in the VS and VT series. The VS series has been completely issued and the VT set is almost half depleted. License plate VT - 438 was issued today.

"The supply of plates now on hand definitely will not last us the rest of the year, but I am sure we will not get any plates bearing four numbers," Berger said.

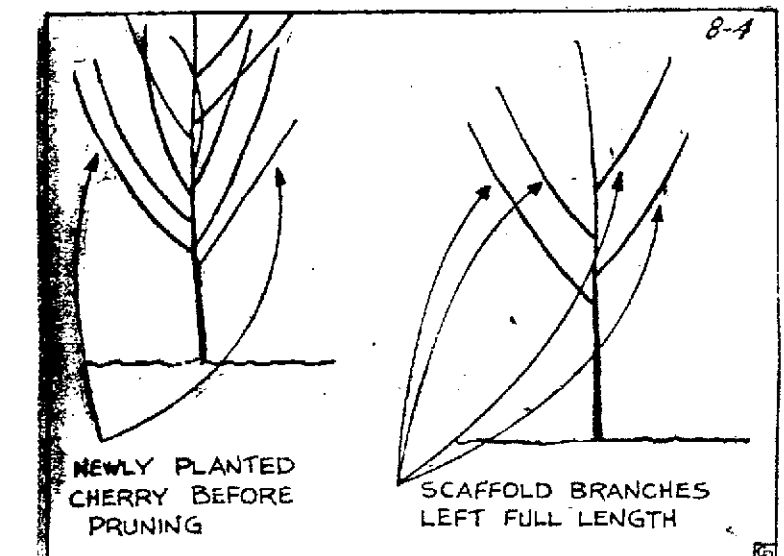

For the past few years two-letter prefix plates have been issued in northeastern Ohio, two

Today's Garden Graph Tips On Planting Cherries

By DEAN HALLIDAY
 Central Press Association
 If you have been wanting to plant a cherry tree or two on your home grounds, you can do so this fall with safety.

Although fall versus spring planting is always cause for argument, there are certain advantages in fall planting. They are: more certainty of getting the particular varieties you desire from a nursery; stock will be freshly dug rather than shipped out of storage; the trees will begin to form roots as soon as planted and therefore will be ready to take advantage of early spring conditions.

Bear in mind that the planting of one-year cherry trees is preferable to two-year trees since it will be easier for the amateur to prune and train the younger stock.

Proper pruning of young cherry trees at planting time is an important factor in determining the future shape and strength of the tree, and therefore, of resulting harvests of ripe fruits.

When pruning a newly planted one-year nursery tree, the leader should be left in. If too many scaffold branches have started near the base of the leader they should be thinned to about four, as shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph. They should be left full length without cutting back.

After the first summer's growth there will be very little pruning to do outside of a little thinning out where too many secondary branches may have started. The scaffold branches which were left at planting time.

Neither sour nor sweet cherry trees require a large amount of pruning in any one season.

Whether you plant in fall or spring, remember that the tree holes should be large enough to allow the trees to be planted without crowding the roots.

Millersburg Pay Scales Increased

MILLERSBURG — Council this week approved pay increase motions to benefit its members and Carl Starnier, deputy marshal. Pay for attending council meetings, effective next year, would be raised from $2 to $5 per meeting night. Starnier will receive a $15 monthly wage boost to $80, effective Sept. 1.

Insect spraying was approved by councilmen as a health precaution measure for the village. The swimming pool, hitching rail grounds at the east side of the Holmes county courts house, always back of Monroe, South and North Clay and Washington streets are to be sprayed.

Purchase of swimming pool equipment was authorized from the $368 remaining in the pool's fund.

Flexible Television Unit Goes to Gotham

LOUDONVILLE — The television mobile unit which the Flexible company delivered this spring to Dumont Laboratories is to be displayed in the near future in the window of the R. H. Macy and company, New York City.

A huge plate glass will be removed and the coach rolled inside. Dumont has made the discovery that wherever the Flexible "Telecruiser" appears, it attracts a lot of attention. Its appearance dramatizes the Dumont name and the sale of Dumont receivers has soared as a result, according to Willis I. McCord of Dumont.

Loudonville Church Sets Friday Program

LOUDONVILLE — The Bryan university Gospel Singers will present a musical program in the First Baptist church at 8 p. m. Friday.

The group is under the leadership of D. W. Ryther, vice president and dean of the university. Ryther, will show natural color slides of the university work and some of the beauty spots in England and Europe, including shots of war wrecked cities and homes.

Leaves Jail On Promise To Quit Area

Robbery Suspect Going To East

BUCYRUS — Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon reported today Donald E. Adkins, 26, of New Washington, who has been held in Crawford county jail here on a robbery charge since July 16, has been released.

The prosecutor said Adkins was released following his pledge to move to Connecticut. Adkins told authorities he and his wife and three children would leave at once for Connecticut, where his mother operates a farm.

Adkins was held to the grand jury in connection with the theft of a floor edger, valued at $145, from Lamb's store here. Isaac Eggleston, Bucyrus, indicted on a robbery charge in the same case, is being held in the jail awaiting grand jury action.

Prosecutor Scanlon said that in the event Adkins returns to this county, the robbery indictment will be prosecuted.

Camp Conger Report Given 4-H Clubbers

Delegates gave a report on Camp Conger activities when the Happy Hearts 4-H club met this week at the home of Sonia Rhinehart, on Opal road. They were Winetta Secrist and Betty and Jackie Logan. Project books will be checked at the meeting Monday in the home of Martha Stahl, on Plainview avenue.

Janet Berry was named chairman of the fair booth decoration committee. Other committee members include Martha Stahl, Joan Brown and Wilnetta Secrist.

Entertain Mothers

NORTH FAIRFIELD — A "Tea and Style Show" was given for mothers of members of the Industrious Workers 4-H club last week in the home of Mrs. Janice Chisholm. Things made by members were displayed and Nadine Baker gave a blanket stitch demonstration. Refreshments were served by Faye Barker and Nancy Gahring. The next meeting will be Aug. 10 with Judging day Aug. 11.

Wirick Files for Jefferson Trustee

Lloyd Wirick filed his nominating petition with the county election board today for trustee of Jefferson township.

The deadline for filing for township, village and school board offices is 6:30 p. m. a week from Wednesday and Board Clerk expects the rush to start this week.

RETURNS TO SAVANNAH

SAVANNAH — Rev. W. F. Holmes, of New Castle, Pa., a former pastor here, will preach at the United Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

Celeryville Adds $20,000 To Church Building Fund

WILLARD — A financial campaign conducted over the past week in nearby Celeryville brought in over $20,000, practically assuring that community of a new and modern church building for the Christian Reformed church.

This sum, added to the $22,000 which the church already had on hand, makes over $42,000 toward the new church. The congregation decided some time ago that when half of the total amount was raised, plans would be formulated to go ahead with the building. Chairmen of the committees are building and planning, Sam Postema, and campaign and finance, John Buuma.

Meet On Saturday

MT. GILEAD — Descendants of Mrs. Jane McPeck will hold their annual reunion and picnic Saturday in State Lakes park here. A program will be presented and officers elected. Last year's reunion attracted more than 30 family members from the Morrow county - Mansfield area.

Showing Progress

GALION — Mariann Liggett, Shelby — St. Mary's Catholic church here will hold a lawn social on the parish grounds Wednesday. Serving begins at 4 p. m. when a plate luncheon will be served. Mrs. Stephen Marvin is chairman.

Veteran Ohio Senator Dies

COLUMBUS — The dean of the Ohio Senate, Sen. Tom W. Jones, Republican of Meigs county, is dead. He was 75.

Senator Jones, whose home was in Middleport, died yesterday of cerebral hemorrhage in St. Francis hospital. He had been in failing health for several years and was hospitalized for a serious illness earlier this year.

He was serving his 25th year in the legislature and was a member of Senate committees on liquor control, military affairs and public utilities in the recent 98th General assembly.

Jones was first elected to the state Senate in 1918 while serving in France as a captain in the 37th (Ohio) Division.

REPORT ON CONVENTION

GALION — A report on the Kiwanis International convention, held in June at Atlantic City, featured Tuesday noon's

Aged Couple Embarks On 50,000-Mile Tour

By SAUL PETT
BRONXVILLE, N. Y., (AP) —
The next time your husband grouses about being too tired to take the family for a Sunday drive, tell him about Herbert Hover.
Hover is 81. His wife, Mata, is 72. They are now on a 50,000-mile auto trip.
Some people have grown blasé about the invention of the motor car. Not the Hovers. In fact, their lives read like an ad for the automobile manufacturers.
They have been taking long car trips since 1907. In 42 years, they have toured more than 1-000,000 miles. In 1908, they became the first husband and wife team to cross the continent by car—a trip which would have made less durable souls swear off autos for life.
"It's the best thing we know,"
he says, "for getting away from business worries, for a change of scene and thought, for your health."
Last month the Hovers started a journey which will keep them away from their home about two years. On the first leg, they came up to the Gramatan hotel in Bronxville and now they're driving through New England.
The remaining itinerary calls for leisurely but extensive touring of western United States, Canada,
Mexico, the West Indies and South America.
In 1908, Hover's doctor told him to get away from his business (it was oil development then; now it's real estate). He was suffering from nervous exhaustion and decided on a long auto trip.
Carrying 300 feet of rope, double block and tackle, shovel, crowbar, ax, saw, compass, many extra tires, sparkplugs and five-gallon tins of gasoline, the Hov-
town in Washington in a two-cylinder Maxwell. In five months of actual driving — the total elapsed time was far greater — they made their way down to Tijuana, Mexico, and then across the country to New York.
"There was absolutely no traffic problem," Hover recalls with a grin.
The roads were rocky, bumpy,
muddy, dusty, sometimes covered with fallen trees. Hover says they frequently had to leave the alleged highways and travel by compass.
"In Oregon," Hover remembers, "the mud was two feet deep. It took us three weeks to cover 24 miles, with the help of a team of horses and five men.
In the sand dunes of Idaho, we spent a whole day covering 150 feet. We put canvas strips under the wheels to get traction. We'd ride two or three feet at a time and then move up the strips."
"We got two miles or 20 miles to the gallon in those days, depending on road conditions."
When they reached New York, the Hovers decided to go on to Europe. They shipped their car ahead and boarded the liner Republic. The ship sank after a collision off Nantucket lightship
but the Hovers and other passengers were rescued. Back in New York, the Hovers boarded another liner, made it this time to Europe and then toured the continent by auto.
At 81, Hover is a tall energetic man whose wife still calls him
"Sweetie Pie." Mrs. Hover is small and wispy and he calls her "Bossy." They've been married 54 years. Their only child, a son, died in the flu epidemic of 1918.
Mrs. Hover no longer drives herself. Even after 42 years of riding with her husband, she admits she still can't resist some backseat driving from the front seat. "But he's a very good driver," she quickly adds.

Mayor Acts On Charges By Lawyers

Claim 11 Persons Badly Beaten

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The Columbus police department — charged with brutality and denying the basic civil rights in 11 cases — was to be the subject of a "complete, sweeping investigation" today.

Mayor James A. Rhodes gave the order to Safety Director C. C. Cole last night and Cole passed it on to Police Chief Frank L. Harrison.

The inquiry was the result of a letter of protest and recommendation from the Columbus Bar association, laid on the mayor's desk yesterday. The lawyers recommended Rhodes conduct the probe.

The association found in an inquiry after one of its members charged he was beaten when arrested last September, that there had been at least 11 cases of "unwarranted brutality" in the past three years.

Rhodes said: "There will be no half-way probe. I am calling upon the Bar association to bring everything they have to my office. And I want everything from everybody else. . . I want all the facts and all of the cases and not just some of them."

The lawyers said they had withheld names of the injured parties for fear of police retaliation.

However, Rhodes added: "This is one investigation that will not deal with insinuations, rumors and hearsay."

"We want the Bar association to be prepared to present everything concerning every case they have. . . we must and will get to the bottom of this."

Every Sixth Vehicle Defective

Motorists Heed Corrective Orders

Approximately one in every six vehicles checked last month in Richland and Ashland counties by the state highway patrol were found to be defective.

Cpl. John L. Bishop, head of the Mansfield patrol post, in charge of the annual check, said 8,990 vehicles, including autos and trucks, were checked by men at the post from July 1 to July 31. Of those checked, 1,555 were found to have mechanical defects.

Bad tail lights were the most common defect, Cpl. Bishop said. Defective brakes ranked second.

Total breakdown of the defects found included: 436 defective tail lights; 416 defective brakes; 251 headlights; 79 horns; 64 stop light and 49 defective windshield wipers.

Other defects, including steering apparatus, tires, rear view mirror and registration violations, totaled 256.

Cpl. Bishop added that patrolmen "found the public very cooperative in the check" and that "in most cases everything has been done to comply with correction orders."

He said motorists are still stopping at the patrol post to have re-checks made on their cars. Under regulations each car found to be defective must be rechecked before a safety sticker is placed on the windshield.

GALION — Mrs. Cora Maloy, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maloy and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Schaefer attended the services held Monday afternoon at Lancaster for William Schaefer, 77, retired baker.

Mr. Schaefer died in his Lancaster home, Friday evening. Rev. C. H. Herstein, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, officiated. Burial was in Wooster.

Surviving are his widow, Rosetta, two daughters, Mrs. Martha Povre, Henrietta, Okla., and Mrs. Cora Maloy, Galion, two sons, George of Santa Barbara, Calif; and Eugene, of Galion. A number of grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive.

TRIAL RUN—While her coach, Ernest Duggan, shouts directions through a megaphone, Shirley May France, 16, a Massachusetts high school girl, takes a second practice swim in the English Channel off Dover. Trainer of 20 international swimmers, Duggan has high hopes for Shirley May, who will seek to break the record set by Gertrude Ederle. He told reporters that she will make the try within two weeks.

7 To Attend YWCA Camp

Seven girls from the YWCA will leave Sunday for a week's outing at Camp Valley View, near Massillon.

The seven include Nancy Lee Chaiker, 200 Penn. avenue, Donna Merrell, 147 North Walnut street; Anna Mae, Frances and Geraldine Schaefer, 272 West Dickson avenue, Sandra Stricker, 642 West Fourth street and Patty Lauz, Grasmere avenue.

These girls are between the ages of nine and 14 years and are among those who attended Day-time camp at the YW. The program at the Massillon Y camp will include swimming, hiking, archery, arts and crafts, and the usual program of activities.

Navy Gets Army Ships

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The navy has been ordered to take over all the army's ocean going vessels in a new move to reshuffle military transportation functions.

In a similar action some time ago, naval air transport had been switched over to the Military Air Transport services (MATS), which serves all three branches under air force control.

Secretary of Defense Johnson Tuesday directed the army to turn its ships over to a new navy-directed Military Sea Transport service (MSTS). The next ship will be set up a land transportation service under army control.

The army has been operating 129 ocean-going vessels, including 66 passenger transports, 58 cargo transports and five tankers. It also has 191 ships under charter. All these now are being assigned to the MSTS.

Advertising Pays Off, Vet Finds Girl of His Dreams

ST JOSEPH, Mo. — Charles Donaldson said yesterday he has found the "hurry-up wife" for whom he had advertised.

But the 21-year-old former soldier declined to reveal her name. He said she was 18 and that they met Wednesday night in a drug store for the first time.

Although he declined to disclose the girl's name "because her parents might object," there were indications her first name is "Irene."

Several times while talking with a reporter today the telephone rang. He told a friend "I don't want to talk to anyone except Irene."

A flood of telephone calls had overloaded the dial system ever since Donaldson advertised that he wanted a girl under 21 to get married by next Saturday.

After numerous calls from prospective brides, ranging in age from 15 to 35, Donaldson arranged a meeting with one of the callers.

The girl waited at a drug store. Donaldson said he walked in and out of the place four times, before the girl identified herself.

"She saw me come in every time I walked in," he reported. "And she later told me that she hoped that I was the fellow."

He said the two were making plans to be married Saturday at Troy, Kas., in a double ceremony with his friend, Orville Montmore.

Traffic Mishap Toll Drops In City

The number of persons injured in Mansfield traffic accidents this year climbed to 92 during the month of July, traffic bureau records disclosed.

Twelve persons were injured in 98 mishaps that occurred in July. The same month last year nine were injured in 102 accidents.

The year's total shows 92 injured in 884 accidents, as compared with 103 injured in 847 mishaps during the same period in 1948.

Police investigating the accidents reported 58 traffic violations among the 189 drivers in-involved. Most frequent violation was failure to yield the right-of-way. There were 15 arrests on that charge during the month.

County Sets Ditch Hearing

A joint Richland - Crawford county project, calling for cleaning and deepening of the Till ditch, has been requested in petitions filed with the commissioners of the two counties.

The ditch, which is 8,300 feet long, is in Sharon township in Richland county and extends into Crawford county. It is between State Route 39 and State Route 544.

Commissioners set Aug. 17 at 10 a. m. for the view and Aug. 24 at 10 a. m. for the first hearing.

Educators To Hold Meeting

A meeting for city and county schools superintendents has been called by the state board of education for next Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Columbus.

County Supt. of Schools Boyd Robinson said he plans to attend the meeting.

The meeting will be concerned with two general topics, Robinson said. The first will have to do with recent school legislation passed by the last state assembly.

The second topic will be concerned with state policies governing the distribution of state funds to the schools.

Is 'Welfare State' Wanted?

THOUGHTFUL AMERICANS, appreciative of the great strides that have been made by this country in providing the highest standards of living in the world, are justifiably disturbed by present trends toward a form of governmental paternalism which threatens the very principles upon which the United States of America was founded—equality of opportunity, individual freedom, and the safeguarding of human rights.

"Paternalism" is defined as "the principles or practices of a government that undertakes to supply needs or regulate conduct of the governed in matters affecting them as individuals as well as in their relations to the state and to each other, on the assumption that it can best secure their highest welfare."

This has brought into use the designation, "welfare state", which, in effect, places entire responsibility for the well-being of everyone on the "government", rather than on encouragement of the individual initiative, industry and reward for superior attainments that has provided inspiration heretofore—and in which hope of future advancement lies.

It was Paul M. Eliot, president of the Farmers Savings and Trust bank, who touched on this subject in an illuminating way in a talk given at this week's Rotary club meeting.

Noting the nationalization process as being carried through in England, Mr. Eliot directed attention to the similarity of recent governmental procedure in this country, with many paternalistic proposals and promises not yet sanctioned but all a part of the general idea of making this a "welfare state".

This presupposes, of course, some form of government dictation as a substitute for individual decision as to employment, manner of living, and the like, for even the most optimistic of learners on government can scarcely be so naive as to believe that everyone can be sustained in comfortable leisure without anyone doing any actual work. Somebody must do the paying—and that can be done ONLY BY WORK!

Behind the Phone Rate Scene

WHILE MANSFIELD is primarily concerned with getting good telephone service at reasonable cost, there is widespread interest, too, in who owns the local telephone company and who determines its policies.

The Ohio Bell Telephone company, by far the largest shareholder, would naturally have considerable to say about what this so-called "independent" company does. It would only be natural, also, for Ohio Bell to want to add the local system to its vast holdings over the state. In neither instance could the giant concern be expected to hold the interest of local customers above its own corporate ambitions.

Another phase of the ownership of the Mansfield Telephone company which rouses considerable speculation is the position of Gustav Hirsch, owner of a Columbus engineering firm. Mr. Hirsch's holdings are barely more than a tenth of those of Ohio Bell, yet anyone who has had dealings with the local phone company knows that Mr. Hirsch is the boss. And Mr. Hirsch's company handles all major construction and repair work for the local concern which must net him a tidy fee in addition to his stock dividends.

Finally Mr. Hirsch has recently testified as an expert on phone rates before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio where an application of the local company for increased rates is now pending.

Mansfielders will indeed be interested in the findings of the expert which council is expected to hire to look into the rate increase application. Ownership and control, with reference to company expenses, dividends, and stock sales, have direct bearing on what the subscriber must pay for his telephone service. And the public is entitled to know just how well ownership and management of this public utility are looking after the PUBLIC welfare.

More Going Out Than Coming In

AS OF AUGUST 4 the United States government is officially "in the red." That is the date when, for the first time in three years, short term notes due for payment, along with current bills due, could be met only by borrowing on new notes.

A wage-earner trying to get along would call it borrowing money to pay his bills—robbing Peter to pay Paul—and would know that he was living beyond his income. The government calls it "deficit financing," but it is the same thing—the government is living beyond its income.

As a matter of fact the government has been living beyond its income for thirteen months, says the treasury department, but previously the treasury has managed to have enough cash on hand, by one device or another, to meet the bills.

Now the fact is unequivocally presented. Uncle Sam is borrowing money to pay his bills.

Look Toward Slum Clearance

PLANS now being made by cities in various parts of the nation will, if successful, change the faces of many of them in the next decade. These are the plans for slum clearance and slum-rehabilitation under the new federal housing act.

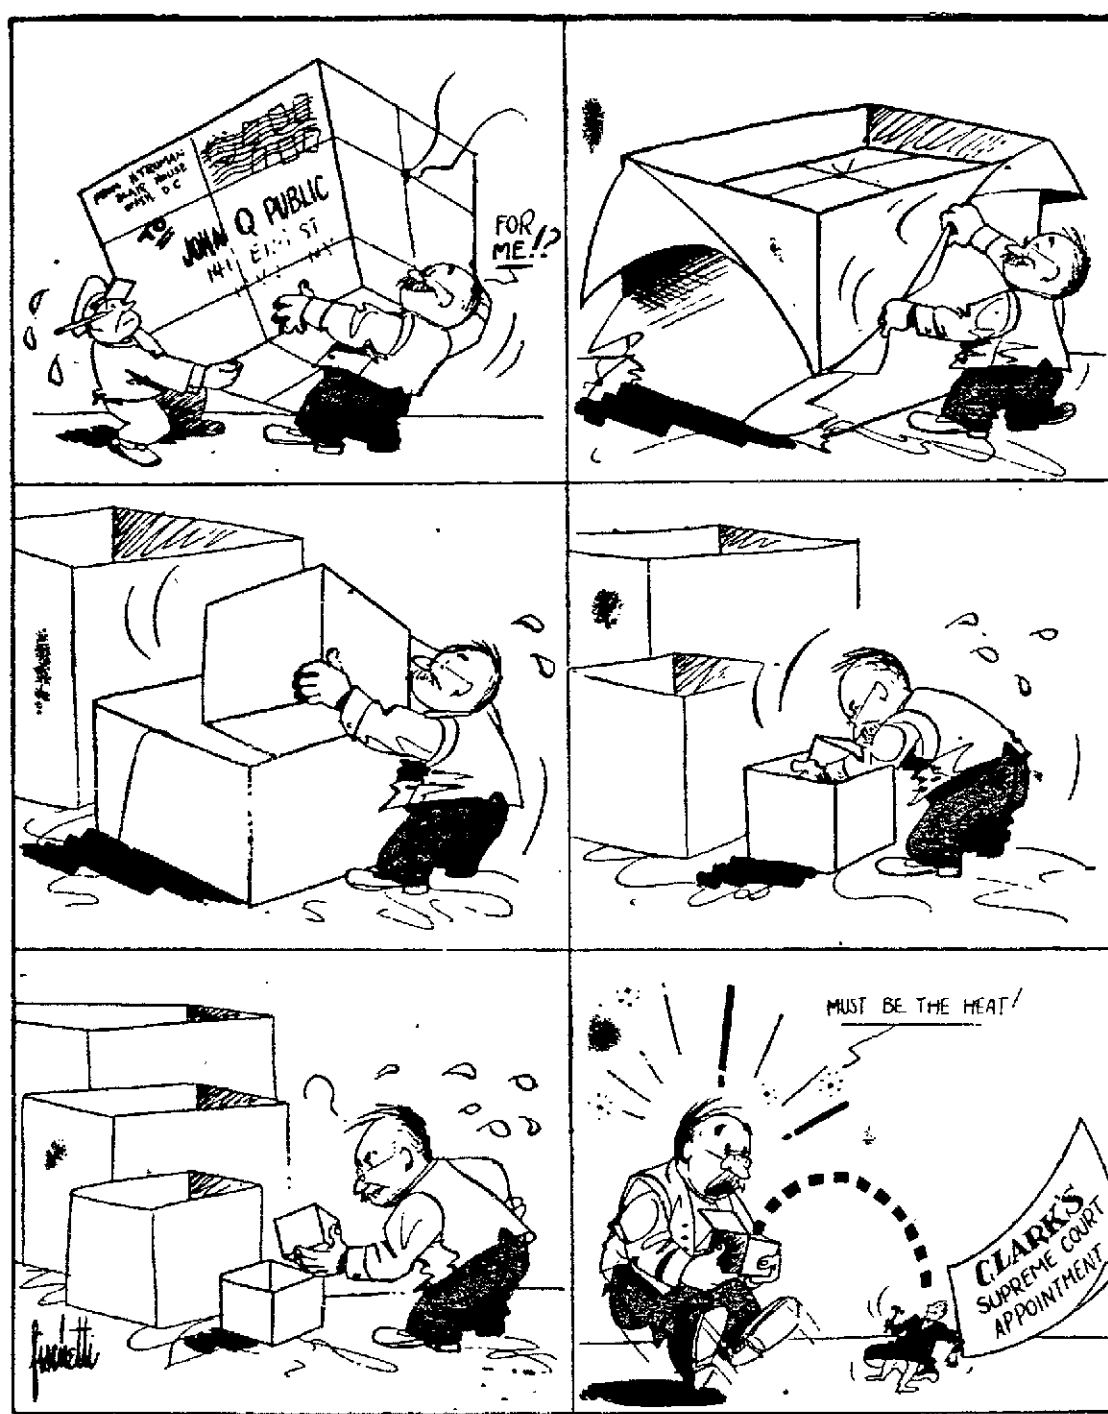

The housing program is highly controversial. Many even among those who nod approval for it hold grave doubts as to the effects it may have on people, the people who will live in subsidized houses and those who will be moved to make way for slum clearance. But it the program really gets rid of some of the worst slums, it will be worth its cost, perhaps worth its social risks.

What Some Other People Are Saying

LORD VANSITTART, former permanent under-secretary of the British foreign office: "Communism is not a party, but a conspiracy. The liberties of true democrats are in no way impaired by the refusal to license liberty to destroy liberty."

W. AVERELL HARRIMAN, U. S. Marshall Plan ambassador to Europe: "It does not seem unreasonable to me to believe that the free countries of Europe can develop over a period of time defensive military forces which, joined together, through the Atlantic Pact, with our part therein, will be able to withstand aggression."

H. H. KUNG, former finance minister of China: "There is plenty of light left in the (Nationalist) Chinese."

Friendship Placed First

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — On occasion Harry Truman still seems to be President of, and for, his friends.

He assumes this role from time to time in selections for important public offices. In this he offers, indeed, a curious paradox.

When it comes to big matters of domestic and foreign policy, he instinctively raises his eyes and takes the far, broad view. He seems to transmute his own experience and background among the people and a knowledge of their needs into the democratic ideal and tradition. In that he is President of 130-odd million people.

But when it comes to choosing important officials, he frequently looks no further than what might be called his own kitchen cabinet circle and picks from among them after the manner of a local Missouri politician with whom personal and political loyalty are guiding influences.

There he becomes President of, and for, his friends, and in a narrow sense, of his party. A kitchen cabinet of close friends and sympathetic associates is a necessary adjunct for any president. But it does not seem always the best place to go, for example, in selecting a justice of the Supreme Court or an attorney general.

There is a political, kitchen cabinet approach in his choice of Attorney General Tom Clark to fill the vacancy on the highest court created by the death of Frank Murphy and in selecting Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, chairman of the Democratic national committee, to be the nation's chief judicial officer as attorney general in Mr. Clark's place, though no reflection is intended about either individual. Both are able and generally respected public figures.

Rewarded For Service.

THE CLAIMS of both of these men for political reward are high, certainly, if that were the only index. They not only stood loyally by in the last campaign when many of their fellow Democrats, some in upper party echelons, were reluctant and uncooperative; but they worked energetically in what most political experts marked off as a lost cause.

They earned a reward, as did Louis A. Johnson, who got his as secretary of defense, and as did Charles F. Brannan and Maurice J. Tobin, who kept jobs, respectively, as secretary of agriculture and secretary of labor which appeared to be only temporary when they were appointed a few months before the election. Both of the latter contributed notably to the election upset.

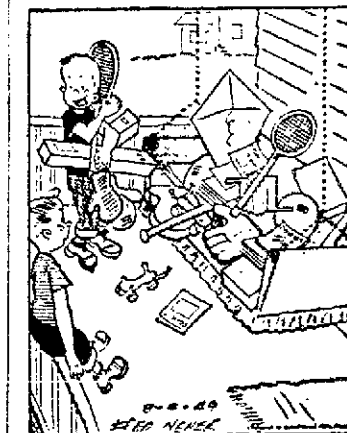

It is not appropriate, however, that political reasons should weigh heavily in selection to posts in the highest judicial realm, which should be above politics, such as the Supreme Court and the attorney general's office.

The designation of Tom Clark to the Supreme Court was frankly disappointing in some quarters which look for judicial distinction and broad understanding of the rare kind as the ideal on the nation's highest tribunal, though this, admittedly, is by no means the invariable rule.

Such attainments can be found in our nation, among other places on our lower federal courts, where they have been demonstrated by long testing and experience. They have been passed over again, as so often in recent years, until it has become a habit. It does not seem a good habit.

It does not seem wise or sound to lose sight at any time of fundamental standards in government. Even if it appears only a technical compromise, and especially in times such as these when democratic government is under such stresses and strains and on test before the world. (Copyright, 1949)

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

Tanforan Race Track's High-Up Friends

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — In the spring of 1946 when building materials were scarce, many millions of dollars were pouring the pavements looking for homes, this columnist published a series exposing the mysterious manner in which the Tanforan race track at San Bruno, Calif., was able to flout the U. S. Government and spend $2,000,000 on new grandstands, stables etc.

Indicating they had "friends in Washington," Tanforan officials thumbed their nose at court orders and went blithely ahead with their building.

No one at that time knew the reason why. Now, three years later, the backstage story becomes clearer.

The Tanforan race track did have friends—including the President's military aide, Gen. Harry Vaughan, together with his mysterious Greek sidekick, John Maragon, and the now famous lobbyist, ex-Col. James V. Hunt.

Just when they started helping the Tanforan track is still not clear. Nevertheless, General Vaughan has been serving as coordinator for veterans affairs, and as such, his job is to protect veterans.

Information before the Senate investigating committee, however, shows that he used his influence to help a race track get building materials supposed

Assignment: America

Just Too Much Heat

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — It is no longer fair or true for our fellow countrymen in the rest of the nation to refer to New Yorkers as half-baked.

As of this moment, we are the most thoroughly roasted, boiled, stewed, fried, frizzled, baked and broiled residents of the nation. We are done to a turn, burned to a crisp.

What the unremitting heat and humidity has done to us this summer shouldn't happen to a dog. We are depressed, dejected and de-lovely. And not worth our salt tablets as the record heat, which started off with a bang in June, continues into August.

This spell of weather is breeding up a new race of '49ers, tough and resilient though wilted. The blizzard boys of '88 have boasted for 51 years that they are the rugged survivors of the most fearful weather ever visited on New York.

But we who survive this summer will be in no mood to give an inch to the blizzardaires. They saw icicles ten feet long. So what? They could see my next door neighbor bake a cheese soufflé on the sidewalk! I made our toast on the window sill for several mornings until I got tired of scraping away the burned part.

And when I absent-mindedly put a cup custard on that same window sill to cool yesterday, I went back an hour later to find it scorched.

I could think up other lies, too, if it weren't too hot.

Unfair To Sufferers.

THE chief annoyance of us city folk in these sweltering dog days is the weather bureau. Our gripe is not that the bureau refuses to give us a change of pace but because it records the daily, official temperatures on top the 20-story Whitehall building. Now this building is at the Battery, on the very tip end of Manhattan, washed by the waters of the sound and cooled by any vagrant harbor or sea breezes available.

This is patently, a swindle. Any day it is a mere 97.8 degrees atop the Whitehall building, it is a good ten degrees hotter on the streets in mid-Manhattan. As the man in the street, I resent this. And so do all other New Yorkers. We want the world to know how much we are suffering and to what exact degree, either fahrenheit or centipede.

Almost every New Yorker with spunk and pride has armed himself with a thermometer this summer, just to make a liar out of the weather bureau.

This heat wave has done more for movie biz in New York than a dozen popcorn vendors in the lobby. Ushers have had to be put on guard against parties who bring box lunches and spend the day.

If anyone needs real proof of what the heat has done to the city, I can testify under oath that it put the autograph fiends, the most virile form of animal life, out of business at the premiere of "Come To The Stable", a film devised by Clare Boothe Luce.

A big, bassy Broadway premiere of any Hollywood film usually spells trouble for every Broadway cop and all first nighters whom autograph bounds rend limb from limb in their frenzies to get at celebrities.

Not a single fiend turned up at the opening of "Come To The Stable". The heat had burnt em out.

As for "Come To The Stable", I'll go so far as to say that the theater was air conditioned. But from here on out, I wish the Hollywood combined chiefs of staff would make a flat rule that no quasi-religious picture can be filmed without the services of both Bing Crosby and Barry Fitzgerald.

When the Tide Ebbs

By ELSIE ROBINSON

THERE are times when school keeps "don't care whether school keeps or not." That's an old phrase but it fits our timeless human experience.

There are inevitable times when your old friends bore you. Your previous interests grow stale. You read the news with an apathy that borders on coma. What do you care whether Harry Bridges is deported or not? What's it to you what the Big Four are doing?

The answer is—you don't care. For the present, at least, you are all washed up.

This attitude may descend upon you when you are 16 as well as when you are 60. There is nothing essentially wrong or unnatural in it.

Life isn't composed of constant enthusiasm. We would be nervous wrecks if it were. The urge to live... the urge to feel interest in life... ebbs and flows like the tide.

There is flood tide and there is ebb tide. There are times when the water foams upon the beach and the air is filled with salty spindrift. And there are times when the water recedes, far and far, leaving only monotonous, bad smelling mud flats.

That is the natural way of water and that is the natural way of human flesh. The tides within us all ebb and flow. We are not to be blamed for that.

We are only to be blamed if we do not rise superior to the currents within us.

After all, we are more than water. We are more than nature. We are more than human flesh. There is that within us which can rise superior to the strongest tug of nature... which can triumph over nature.

There are ebb tides of the spirit. You can't help that. But you can help giving way to them. You can buckle on your mental and moral armor and make your way even across the mud flats. You can conquer your depression even if it's only by baking a good cake or helping build a chicken coop.

There is always something you can do when the tide ebbs. You don't have to sit in a corner and make a mud flat of yourself. There's always a good book to read or a dress to make or a blueprint to study. You can even trim your nails. Small as that task is, it helps in times of despair. I've tried it.

So the tide goes out and the tide comes in but you don't need to ebb and flow with it. God—or whatever you call Him—breathed into your poor clay something that can meet any tide head on and come out the winner.

You have what it takes! You can triumph if you wish. Try it! (Copyright, 1949)

As Cerf Tells It

Harry Herschfield acted as toastmaster for a big industrial concern's jubilee banquet. "Your president achieved success by watching the little things," Herschfield told his audience. "One day a minor employee arrived late with one eye closed, his left arm in a sling, and his clothes in tatters. It's 9:30, you were due at 8:30." The employee explained, "I fell out of a tenth story window." The president snorted, "It took you a whole hour?"

Words of the Wise

to have been reserved for veterans.

For, when his friend, John Maragon, couldn't get government building restrictions raised to help the Tanforan track, Vaughan sent his other friend, James Hunt to the housing expeditor. As a result, the office of housing expeditor, also supposed to protect veterans, sent a memo to the justice department instructing them to lift the injunction which a federal judge in California had placed against Tanforan's unauthorized use of building materials.

Bootlegger Turns To Racing.

THE Tanforan track was owned by Joseph H. Reinfeld, one of the biggest bootleggers ever to operate rum boats off the New Jersey coast during prohibition days, and once indicted for the murder of Louis Lefera, a prohibition agent who had seized his rum boat "Herreshoff" with $75,000 worth of whisky aboard.

Came the end of prohibition, and Reinfeld became the exclusive distributor of Haig and Haig, King William scotches, martini and Rossi vermouth; plus regional distributor for Seagrams and Schenleys. He also became the owner, with two others, of the Tanforan race track. All three, however, remained in the background.

On June 2 and June 22, 1946, this columnist first called attention to the Tanforan violation of housing regulations.

A review of these columns shows that as early as May, 1946, the Tanforan crowd seemed to have mysterious influence in Washington, which ruled that they were merely demolishing former navy construction.

U. S. authorities in California however, ruled otherwise. And on May 31, Gilbert Kneiss, district civilian production administration representative, refused Tanforan a permit for new construction, despite what a CPA inspector on June 5 found Tanforan continuing new construction.

In fact, Tanforan, for reasons best known to itself, continued to ignore both building regulations and U. S. federal officials in California. Between June, 1946, and Feb. 14, 1947, there were 18 violations of CPA regulations. In that period, the track put up luxurious new construction despite orders to the contrary.

Finally this was too much for U. S. Judge George B. Harris in San Francisco and, on Feb. 14, 1947, he issued an injunction banning further construction. Even this, however, was ignored. The Tanforan boys seemed to think they had protective friends in Washington.

Enter General Vaughan.

JUST when the Maragon-Vaughan-Hunt team stepped into the Tanforan picture also is not known. According to information so far unearthed by Senate investigators their activity may not have started until after Tanforan found itself faced with criminal prosecution. At any rate the triumvirate was remarkably successful.

For, in October and November, 1947, a new inside lobbying drive was started in Washington to help Tanforan. This time, it was stated, Tanforan had changed owners. William Helis, Greek-American oil operator in Louisiana and race-track owner in New Jersey, evinced an interest in the track and considered buying it.

In the end, it was purchased by Eugene Mori of the Garden State Racing association. But Helis happens to be a close friend of Gen. Harry Vaughan, and has used his fellow Greek, John Maragon, to run errands in Washington.

Once Vaughan and Maragon, after visiting Helis's Rancocas farms in New Jersey, brought back a pig which they turned loose in J. Edgar Hoover's office as a joke on the unsuspecting FBI director.

It was after Vaughan, Maragon and Hunt came to the picture that all of Tanforan's troubles suddenly vanished. Maragon and Hunt made some calls at the office of housing administrator and shortly thereafter the justice department was asked to lift its order banning Tanforan from the use of building materials.

More about the mysterious team of Maragon, Vaughan and Hunt and what they accomplished inside the government will follow.

Bombay Car Dealer Finds It's Hot Here

Worse Than India, He Tells Optimists

"You fellows really foxed me about the weather here in the United States. I thought it would be cool compared to India, but it actually is much warmer," Jack M. Benzimra, a car and truck dealer in Bombay, India, told members of the Optimist club yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Benzimra is spending part of his six-month "vacation" touring truck and car agencies in this country, becoming acquainted with American selling methods. An Englishman, Benzimra has been in India 15 years.

The humidity in the United States is blamed by Benzimra for making it seem hotter than in India.

"India is only half as large as the United States, but it has two and a half times the population. The biggest part of the population is limited to about 24 large cities—the areas outside the cities have real poverty," Benzimra said.

"The biggest problem in India is the great difference in incomes. There are quite a few families that are fabulously rich, but the great proportion of the people is very poor."

"The government is working on this problem, however, and in about 20 years the standard of living should be much higher," Benzimra added.

REDS STRONGER

He warned that the communist party is growing stronger and is causing considerable trouble to the government. He claims to have talked to the assassin of Mahatma Gandhi, while the assassin was in jail. He pointed out, however, that the assassin was a Hindu and a member of a right-wing party. This prevented any serious outbreak because of Gandhi's death, according to Benzimra.

Married and the father of two children, Benzimra has six servants working in his home in Bombay. The total cost of the servants is only $120 a month, but he claims that they do only about as much work as $120 will buy anywhere and they do it poorly.

"You fellows haven't seen any snobbishness or class distinction to match that in India. Our butler would be disgraced for life if he did the work of the assistant butler," Benzimra explained.

"Even though India is predominantly an agricultural country, it cannot produce enough food to feed its own people. The population problem is becoming increasingly acute," he said.

Another thing that disturbs Benzimra is the fact that the government has declared English to be a secondary language. In the large cities about 90 per cent of the natives speak English with enough skill to be understood, Benzimra estimated.

He was introduced by Optimist George Evans, Program director was Roland Frasher.

County's New Car Sales Show Gain

More new cars but fewer new trucks were sold in July compared with June, Clerk of Courts records showed today.

In July, 323 new cars and 25 new trucks were sold in the county. That was 21 more new cars and 10 fewer new trucks than were sold in June.

The over-all sales for all new and old cars and trucks during July totaled 2,115, compared with 1,977 for June.

Paris Models Latest Styles Despite Rains and Pickets

PARIS —(UP)— The famed fashioners of France unveiled the 1950 "windblown look" Wednesday with three new wrinkles— police guards, picket lines and intermittent rain.

But none of these outside disturbances prevented the lead-off man, Pierre Balmain, from displaying a luxurious collection which rivalled prewar days in this, the style capital of the world.

Although the strike of 13,000 seamstresses forced him to open two days late, Balmain presented his 180 model collection at the exclusive Ambassadors ballroom on the Champs-Elysees before a diamond-studded audience that included actress Madeleine Carroll, broadcaster Mary Margaret McBride and representatives of the United States' most fashionable stores.

Six blocks away, outside Balmain's own fashion house, 30

midnettes paced in the rain to advertise their demands for a five cents an hour wage increase to 20 cents an hour.

A spokesman for the striking midnettes said the creations would look windblown indeed— because they haven't been finished. The strike began suddenly a week ago today.

Urge New Pay Boost

WASHINGTON — (UP)— Pay increases for more than 900,000 government workers and officials at a cost of about $122,000,000 a year were recommended to the Senate Wednesday in its civil service committee.

One bill approved already has been passed by the House. It would lift the present salary limits for cabinet officers, heads of government agencies and other top officials up to $25,000 a year. The second measure would revise the present "classified service" — often called civil service — and raise present ceilings of $10,000 and $10,330 to $15,000.

This bill has not been acted upon by the House. It would cover about 900,000 government workers. They would get an average increase of about $123 a year or 3½ per cent, although the increase would range from as little as $20 up to $5,000. Chairman Olin D. He also hopes for passage of a third bill calling for a flat $100 a year pay boost for about 500,000 postal workers previously approved by the Senate committee.

LAST IN SERIES OF PARTIES GIVEN FOR MISS BREYMAN

Bride-elect of John Crotser of Three Rivers, Mich., Honored With Miscellaneous Shower

THE LAST IN A SERIES of bridal showers for Miss Ruth Elaine Breyman, bride-elect of John Crotser of Three Rivers, Mich., was held last evening at the home of Mrs. Leonard Hockett, 264 Hammond avenue.

Associate hostess was Miss Hazel Hockett. The twenty-four guests presented a recipe file with their favorite recipes and presented the file to the bride.

Contest prizes were won by Miss Betty Murray, Mrs. Everett Tingley, Mrs. Darl Stofor and Mrs. Roy Jones. The prizes were four pieces of the honoree's thirty-four piece set of China, and were presented to the honoree.

For luncheon the serving table was centered with a miniature bride and bridegroom under an arch of ivy. Green and white streamers were attached to four heart-shaped cakes bearing the names of the honored couple and the date and time of the wedding.

A large crystal punch bowl and double crystal candelabra, containing green and white tapers, completed the table setting.

A miscellaneous shower of gifts filled one corner of the dining room. The hostesses' gift was a complete set of canisters, which were hidden throughout the house. Each contained a verse instructing Miss Breyman where to find the next one.

The couple will be wed August 13 at 7:30 o'clock at the Main Street Evangelical and United Brethren church. Rev. W. J. Shawk will solemnize the nuptial vows. The custom of open church will be observed.

It's Purely Personal

Have You Heard . . .

By OLIVE GRESEMER

Mrs. Nina Guinther, High street, and Mrs. Florence Kelsor, Chilton avenue, have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Loughridge of Jamestown, Ala. The women also visited in Chattanooga, Tenn., Kentucky and Georgia.

Dr. and Mrs. W. James Acomb, 572 Edgewood road, recently returned aboard the liner Ile De France, from a two months vacation abroad. They toured England, Scotland, Italy, France, Belgium and Switzerland and spent some time at the Riviera.

Mrs. Elizabeth Navratil, 336 Wayne street, was hostess at a bridal shower for her daughter, Gloria Ann, recently at Johns park. Evening prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. Majer, Mrs. Margaret Waleri, Miss Sammy Kaye Mathes and Mrs. Thelma Selman. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. H. Heichel, Mrs. L. Mathes and Mrs. R. Lee.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Jacobs, 1796 Marion avenue road, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jacobs and daughter, Judy, are on a vacation trip through Canada, Niagara Falls, Atlantic City, New York and Baltimore, Md. They will travel by steamer from Baltimore to Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Merle, 151 South Foster street, and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Heffelfinger, R. D. 3, Galton, left for a month's motor trip to Needles, British Columbia, Canada, where Mr. Merle owns a vacation resort.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ricker, of Lexington, and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Mowry, R. D. 3, are touring the eastern states and Niagara Falls, in celebration of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ricker, which occurs August 5.

Mrs. Hazel D. Keyser of Canton has returned home after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Walters, 46 Mansfield avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Garverick, daughter, Janet, and son, Arthur jr., Concord avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Woolard and son, Phil, 133 Glessner avenue, returned recently from Loring, Ontario, Canada, where they spent several days vacationing.

On Sunday, August 7, at 4:30 p. m., the marriage of Miss Janice Arnholt and Rev. G. Edward Wolf of Jelloway Zion Lutheran church will be solemnized in the Loudonville Zion Lutheran church, with Rev. H. T. Grabau officiating. An open-church wedding will be observed.

Miss Dorothy Sherer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Sherer, West Main street, Crestline, has been admitted to Capital university as a member of the Centennial class. The university will observe the anniversary of its founding during the 1949-50 school year and the fall convocation will be the first of a series of centennial events. Miss Sherer plans to enter the pre-medical technician course at the university.

Miss Maxwell Becomes Bride In Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn T. Maxwell, R. D. 2, Lexington, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Kathleen Maxwell, to William Robert Hering, of Patterson, New Jersey, in a ceremony performed June 29, at the home of Rev. Dr. Robert A. McGowan, Lakeland, Florida.

Miss Sophie Mae Mitchell, close friend of the bride, was her only attendant, and Lawrence Heneycz was best man.

Mrs. Hering is a graduate of Lexington High School and attended Bowling Green State university and Florida Southern College, receiving her B. S. degree in education from the latter school. She was employed last year as a commercial teacher in the Sebring High School, Sebring, Florida. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority, and the Junior Woman's Club of Sebring.

Mr. Hering is the son of Mrs. Emma Jane Hering, Patterson, New Jersey. At present he is attending Florida Southern College where he expects to receive his B. S. degree this month, and where he will study a post graduate course in fiction and feature writing. He spent three years in the U. S. Army. He is affiliated with the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity.

The couple is making their home at 320 Patten Heights street, Lakeland, Florida.

Moose Women Convene Here

The regular business session of the Women of the Moose was held last evening at the Moose home. Senior regent, Mrs. Cloyd Wyckoff, conducted the business. Mrs. Peter Herrold was installed as chaplain.

The next meeting will be the Mooseheart Alumni chapter night on Aug. 17, which will be formal and closed.

Mrs. Mary Ross, 1200 Wyandotte avenue, entertained fourteen members and three guests of the publicity committee, Women of the Moose, Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Michael Campa nelli served as associate hostess. The guests were Mrs. Cloyd Wyckoff, senior regent, Miss Marie Louise Briggs and Miss Emily Ross.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Harold Hill, chairman. Plans for a booth at the bazaar in November were made. Plans were also formulated for chapter night in September.

Mrs. Fred Lewis won the club prize. Contest prizes were awarded to Mrs. William Keller and Mrs. Ralph Lee.

Luncheon was served by the hostesses with blue and pink appointments. The next meeting will be held Sept. 6 at the home of Mrs. Marion Gerrell, 194 Rowland avenue. Mrs. Fred Lewis will serve as associate hostess.

Missionary Meeting Held By Society

The Women's Missionary society of first Lutheran church met Wednc day at the parish house. Mrs. Hugh Parry gave the devotion and read a selection entitled "The Most Blessed People in the World."

The meeting was opened by group singing. Mrs. S. D. Hoover presented the topic, "New Horizons for Liberia". Mrs. I. S. Perry, president, conducted the business meeting.

REVEALS MARRIAGE—Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Anderson, 520 Newman street, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Donna Gene, to Robert Lee Whisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Whisler, Ontario. The couple were wed in Maysville, Kentucky, April 23, in the First Baptist church. The Rev. Archie Odum officiated for the double-ring ceremony. They were accompanied to Kentucky by Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Eyerly. They are now residing at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Whisler is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school and Minnick Beauty school. She is employed at the M. O'Neil company. Mr. Whisler, a graduate of Ontario high school, is an employee of the Westinghouse Electric corporation.

Flower Distribution For Shut-Ins To Be Saturday

On Saturday the Agnes Paulsen Garden club will again distribute bouquets of flowers to Mansfield shut-ins, it was announced at last night's business meeting.

Distribution will be made from the YWCA where parking space will be reserved in front of the building for those who wish to donate flowers for the project. Those who do not have transportation to the YWCA are asked to call Mrs. John Waldman, 4818-5. Those who know of shut-ins who would like to receive the flowers are also asked to call Mrs. Waldman.

Last night's meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Boals, 808 Arlington avenue. Twelve members and three guests, Mrs. Henry Paulsen, Mrs. Robert Coe and Mrs. Chester Henry were present.

A corsage contest was held with Mrs. M. J. Lybarger winning the prize along with Mrs. Dale Bryan. Mrs. Paulsen distributed a glamelia corsage along with various others, accompanying her talk on how to select flowers and style your corsage for a particular dress or occasion.

Anniversary To Be Celebrated

Plans for an anniversary picnic August 18, were made at the regular meeting of the Blue Star Mothers held Tuesday evening in the YMCA clubrooms. The picnic will celebrate the seventh anniversary of the club. It will be held at North Lake park pavilion.

A committee was appointed to take care of the social meetings during August and September. A rummage sale was discussed and it was decided to hold one in the early fall. The next meeting will be the picnic.

Double Wedding Solemnized In Kentucky

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Esterline, 602 Springmill road, are announcing the double wedding of their sons, Albert and Charles. Albert Esterline's bride is Florence Hanna, 624 West Fourth street. Charles Esterline married Barbara Fraley, 430 1/2 Wayne street. The double service took place Sunday at 6 o'clock in Greenup, Ky.. The officiating pastor was Rev. Allan of the Methodist church in Greenup. The brides were attired in blue taffeta dresses with white accessories. Miss Hanna wore a white and yellow corsage while Miss Fraley's corsage was of red roses.

After the ceremony the couples motored through the southern states for their wedding trip. Albert Esterline, an employee of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, and his bride will reside at 624 West Fourth street. The other brother, an employee of R. E. Moorehead's, and his wife will make their home on Herring avenue, Roseland.

Conference Reports Given To Guild Group

Highlights of the summer conference held at Tiffin recently were given at the regular meeting of the Afternoon Guild of St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church Thursday afternoon at the church parlors. Mrs. Ralph Damlos, delegate, made the interesting reports, telling of the conference classes on various subjects pertaining to the church program.

One of the principal speakers was Rev. Jefferson Rogers, who conducted a class on the Bible and human rights. He spoke on freedom of speech, saying, "Freedom of speech doesn't mean a thing if we haven't anything to say. The Bible is a treasure out of which we derive the leaven of the loaf."

Miss Laura Richardson was introduced as the new director of religious education.

Group singing was enjoyed at the meeting yesterday with Miss Anna Hunter at the piano. Mrs. Leopold read the scripture and led in prayer.

A brief business session was held and reports given by the various committee chairmen.

Refreshments were served by Miss Clara Yeager, Mrs. Ida Heinkeing, Mrs. Theresa Herold, Mrs. Clarence Fisher and Mrs. Ida Winters.

The next meeting will be held Aug. 17 at 12, noon, at the North Lake park pavilion. Everyone is to bring their own lunch and beverage.

If Child Selects Difficult Books Let Him Read Them

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

Children read to from the time they are barely two years old will, gradually, come to listen to harder and harder books as they have had more and more practice at listening. They may show preference for harder and harder books. Our children all were enjoying before they entered school books which were above third or fourth grade difficulty. Indeed, some children will, at a very early age listen to one read from heavy adult materials, so great may their interest be in listening to the sounds. Usually, however, their interest grows with their growing comprehension of the materials they listen to.

It is difficult, therefore, to say what book is best suited for a child to hear you read unless you know for how many months or years he has been read to, just as it is difficult to choose a book for a child seven, nine or twelve years old unless you know his degree of reading skill and what books he has already read. A mother writes of her boy almost seven.

BEST READERS

"Do you advise letting him go ahead with his reading? From the library I have been getting books for him from the second and third grade shelves because the first grade books are so repetitious. He was one of the best readers in his class and is able to figure out new words phonetically and I believe the books should be somewhat of a challenge. However, I have been advised by a teacher friend not to let him have the more advanced books. He picks up and reads as well as he is able the Pook books by A. A. Milne and others which we have read to him."

My personal reply was virtually as follows: By all means let him read as difficult books as he likes. Occasionally, read some of them to him, you and he taking turns at reading to each other. Also encourage him to tell you about what he has read and listen rapidly as he does so. Fine, too, to encourage him to read to his baby brother. There is no better way to cultivate nice relations between them. (My list of books from which to read to the baby and young child, and another list of FRIED SHRIMP—For a real fanfare serve golden-brown French-fried shrimp to supper guests. Dip cleaned shrimp in beaten egg and roll in pancake mix. Fry to a rich brown in hot deep fat and serve with tartar sauce. An easy to clean enameled sauce pot with straight sides doubles nicely as a frying kettle. Other necessary equipment includes a frying basket, a deep fat frying thermometer and absorbent paper for draining the fried shrimp.

books for the child from six to twelve to read may be had in a stamped envelope sent me in care of this paper.)

ABLE TO READ

Let me observe with you that being able to read well will be a great asset to this older boy

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE
For Friday, August 5

The astral forecast is for a very progressive outlook, with promise of expansive conditions in launching plans of ambitious scope and lofty contacts. It is a propitious time for working eagerly and confidently toward advanced goals, in which the generous support of influential personages may be counted upon. The way seems pleasant and profitable in all cherished relations. Make worthwhile contacts.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a rich fulfillment of their highest hopes and wishes. This under a benign and expanding ray of hope, encouraged by support from high places. Social, domestic and cultural ties may likewise expand and find happy fruition under such a benevolent ray. Make agreements and renew contacts, seek enjoyment as well as profit.

A child born on this day will have an expansive benevolent and generous spirit and should enjoy an ambitious and happy career.

RIGHT SEASONING

A touch of the right seasoning makes all the differences in the world in how your vegetables taste. Mustard butter saves the Woman's Home Companion, gives hot greens and cabbage just the right zip. You do it by creaming 1/3 cup butter or margarine, 2 teaspoons prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon sugar and 1/2 teaspoon of salt and stir in 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Pour over the hot vegetables. For a tang of Spring, pile golden cooked carrots on one side of dish, bright green beans on the other. Pour on 1/4 cup salad oil and two tablespoons vinegar, heated and seasoned with salt, pepper, little sugar. If your family likes sweet soups, beets try adding a touch of chopped chives just before serving and once you've tried it, I'm sure you'll agree a hint of basil makes any beets more tempting.

Papish and Feller Get Starting Calls

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Not that the Cleveland Indians would slug an opponent who is down, but the boys are raring to get at the Washington Nationals in two games today.

There were glum looks in the faces of Manager Lou Boudreau's charges yesterday as they heard the details of New York Yankee and Boston Red Sox victories. The Tribe's night game with the Nats was washed out.

Galion Legion Suffers First Tourney Loss

The power of Cincinnati American Legion baseball was apparent more than ever today after the Cincinnati Budde post racked Galion, 14-6, yesterday at Columbus.

Galion got its number one pitcher, Ray Seif, back from his Michigan vacation, but Cincinnati showed little respect. It ploughed in for four runs in each of the third, fourth, and eighth innings.

Seif did make his presence felt at the bat as he drove out a three-run homer in the sixth inning.

Galion will meet Steubenville today while Warren meets Lancaster and Cincinnati tangles with Columbus. Ironton holds a bye.

In yesterday's games, Ironton eliminated Cleveland, 7-1, Lancaster blasted Lima, 11-1, Warren trimmed Marion, 9-7, and Steubenville whipped Akron, after battling 22 innings. The two teams were tied at 3-3 when rain halted their morning game in the tenth inning. They started all over in the afternoon and went 12 more frames before Steubenville won, 7-6.

Old Timers Hold First-Place In Recreation Loop

The Old Timers tightened their grip on first place in the Recreation Softball league last night by edging Western and Southern Insurance, 3-2, at Mansfield Tire field.

The game was scheduled as the second half of a double-header but the first tilt, between Martin Steel and W. and S. was postponed. The victory was the fourth straight without defeat for the Old Timers and second defeat in three games for Western and Southern.

Jim Odenkirk's double in the last of the sixth drove in the winning run for the Old Timers. They had taken an early lead but been tied 2-2 by the fifth inning Insurance rally.

Baseball... DAV Outfit Loses First League Tilt

The Disabled American Veterans were batted from first place in the American Softball league last night as two potential challengers to the throne arose.

Todd's Jewels pulled into a tie for second place by walloping DAV, 7-1, while VFW won with a 5-1 upset of Sons of Herman.

Farm Tools now has undisputed possession of the lead with 2-0 while DAV and Todd's have 2-1. VFW has broken even in two starts and Sons of Herman has split in four.

MCKINLEY IS TOUGH Dale McKinley of Todd's held previously undefeated DAV to only three hits and had a shut-out after the first inning.

Ronnie Hunt also tossed a three-hitter while having a perfect night at bat to lead VFW to victory. Hunt had two for two himself, struck out seven batters and walked three Sons of Herman did not get its run until the bottom of the seventh.

In the third game of the day, American Veterans Committee won on a forfeit when the Amvets could not field a full team by the 6:30 p. m. deadline.

Caddy Joust Upset Pulled By McIntire

The Westbrook caddy tournament today looked like another private battle between defending champion Larry Inscore and Jimmy Hager.

The pair finished one-two in the tournament last year and also held the same rating on the Senior high golf team this spring. Now they are in opposite brackets in the caddy semi-finals and favorites to meet in two weeks for the title.

Last man rated a good chance to upset one of the big fellows, Bud Baith, was taken out in a surprising upset in quarter-final play yesterday.

Baith lost a two-up decision to little Johnny McIntire in the first form reversal of the tournament. McIntire will meet Inscore next Monday while Hager battles Dean Hahn. Finals and semi-finals are 36 holes.

Hahn won a lop-sided match from Jones, 7 and 3, while Hager ousted Charles Vandick, 4 and 3, and Inscore had trouble in eliminating "Beebe" Vrabel, 1 up.

In the second flight, Bob Scadova beat Paul Smollen, 3 and 2, Cliff Hammer eliminated Darce Shasky, 1 up; Sherban beat Dick Esbensen, 2 up, and Cy DeWeese took out Larry Zartman, 2 and 1.

Winners of the championship flight will represent Westbrook in the National Caddy tournament at Columbus late in August.

Three Softball League Contests Booked For Today

Three city league softball games will be played today, two in the Church loop and one in the Girls' league.

The Church loop games will open the second round which is to be played as a single elimination tournament. A full round-robin schedule will not be played because of lack of time.

St. Matthew's will meet First Christian at Johns park today while United Brethren faces First Presbyterian at Liberty. In first round games between the same teams, St. Matthew's won 13-6 and First Presbyterian won 19-11. St. Matthew's is one of the league's most improved teams and may be a second round darkhorse.

The Girls' league will wind up its first-half race as Lumbermens and Westinghouse tangle at North Lake park. Westinghouse can clinch the championship with a victory while a Lumbermens win will throw Lumbermens, Westinghouse, and Ohio Sport Center into a three-way tie.

Water Revenue Runs Low

City Auditor Cites Problem

There will be payless pay days in the city water department next year unless expenses are cut or the department's revenue is increased, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley told city council at its meeting last night.

The city auditor declared he would consider the water department's Clear Fork indebtedness as the department's first obligation and "if nothing is done there will be payless pay days in 1950."

Council was asked "What is being done about the water department in 1950?" by Auditor Kelley after legislation was introduced to transfer money appropriated to pay for the Clear Fork indebtedness to a fund to meet current expenses.

"Are we going to reduce expenses in 1950?" Kelley asked.

"You are perhaps asking a question no one here can answer," Councilman Charles Schultz replied.

"I'm asking council or the administration—can we reduce expenses enough," Kelley said.

Councilman Clifford K. N. r sidestepped the question by asking the auditor if he was making a suggestion.

"You have two choices, you can reduce expenses or increase the revenue," Kelley replied.

The second choice means an increase in water rates, he declared.

This verbal sparring re-opened the question of increased water rates in Mansfield to pay for the $2,450,000 Clear Fork project.

Several months ago the Chamber of Commerce water committee met with city officials and came to the conclusion an additional $100,000 a year was needed by the water department.

Sanitary Engineer B. V. Bevier prepared sets of rate distribution figures that would bring the city this additional amount of money.

These figures were given to council's water committee, and Mayor Roy Vaughn and Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison.

However, no action has been taken, or openly discussed by either the administration or council.

The annual indebtedness to pay principal and interest of the bonds issued to finance the Clear Fork project is approximately $190,000, Kelley said.

Meanwhile, council approved the two ordinances that transferred $7,500 from the bonds and interests fund to other water department funds. That amount was reduced from $8,500 on Kelley's insistence that there wasn't sufficient money available for the larger transfer.

One transfer makes available $6,500 for water department payroll, the other transfer provides $1,000 for the purchase of water meters.

City To Bid On Mower Now In Use

Auditor Holds Up Payment

The city of Mansfield today finds itself in the unique position of attempting to purchase by competitive bids a piece of equipment that has been in use by the city for two months.

City council at its meeting last night approved an ordinance to authorize Service - Safety Director Earl T. Garrison to purchase a jeep with mowing and snow plow attachments, and appropriated $3,500 from the airport fund to finance the purchase.

The jeep and attachments that cost slightly over $3,200 were delivered to the airport almost two months ago and have been in use ever since, but no payment has been made.

And City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said he wouldn't make any promises the equipment would be paid for under the existing legislation.

The whole trouble began two months ago when council approved an ordinance to purchase power mowing equipment for use at the airport. No mention was made of snow plow attachments.

However, the advertisement for bids to furnish the equipment ask for a jeep with both mower and snow plow.

Service - Safety Director Garrison admitted he slipped up by not comparing the legal advertisement with the ordinance.

When Kelley discovered the ordinance and advertisement didn't match he refused to pay for the equipment.

Meanwhile, G. L. Rogers company delivered the equipment and it has been in use at the airport.

The ordinance approved last night repeals the previous ordinances and make it necessary to re-advertise for bids.

Kelley asked the service - safety director if the advertisement would be for "old" or "new" equipment.

He said he understood the mower equipment had already been damaged, which was confirmed at the airport. However, it was reported the equipment has been repaired.

When asked following the council meeting if he would pay for the equipment under the new ordinance Kelley replied, "I'm not promising anything."

Legion Men Go To Confab

Commander Charles A. Boughton of McVey post, American Legion, will head large delegation of Mansfield Legionnaires to the state convention of the veterans' organization in Columbus.

At least 8,000 Legion men and their guests are expected to start arriving in the capital city tomorrow.

Members of Post 72 of the Legion, the 40 and 8, and the Legion auxiliary also will attend the three-day sessions. McVey Post will have 16 official delegates.

The serious business—and the hinks—won't take place until Saturday. That's when the opening session of the convention will be held.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, a native of Urbana, O., will address the initial gathering. He was leader of the Eighth army in the Philippines liberation campaign in World War II.

The Legion's fun-making organization, the 40 and 8, will hold its parade Saturday night. The official convention parade will take place Sunday afternoon.

The 40 and 8's auxiliary went into its first convention session yesterday and will continue today.

Some 13 bands and drum and bugle corps, plus 30 other musical groups will be on hand for the parade Sunday. Legion drum and bugle corps contests are scheduled for 8 p. m. Saturday.

Up and Down the Street . . .

THEY KNOW HIM — Mansfield teachers who will go as delegates to the national convention of the American Federation of Teachers in Milwaukee Aug. 22 to 26, are looking forward to hearing Irvin Kuenzli, secretary-treasurer of the national group. Kuenzli is well known in Mansfield, having been the speaker at the annual meeting of the Mansfield Federation of Teachers in the spring of 1948. This summer Kuenzli is being sent on a special mission to Germany at the request of the manpower division of the U. S. Army of Occupation. He will assist in the labor movement there in working out a program of active support for public education and serve as consultant for the newly-established teachers' organization in Germany.

MAKES JOB EASIER — Opening mail in County Treasurer Charles C. Payne's office is a pleasure. The office has a new automatic letter opener that slices each envelope along the edge, permitting easy access to the contents. The gadget opens about 100 letters a minute. Payne said it came just in time for the 'big rush when the second half real estate tax payments started streaming in.

ATTACKS TRAINER—Denver Post photographer Cloyd Teter caught this action photo of Jake, the performing bear, attacking his trainer, Buck Robinson of Oklahoma City, just after Robinson unloaded the bear at Monte Vista, Colo., where they were to appear. Robinson's face was lacerated within a quarter of an inch of his right eye. Jake's temper cooled after the bite, and Robinson said the performance would go on.

Ridiculous Liquor Laws Lead To Corruption In One-Third of U. S.

Kansas, grand-daddy of the dry states, is at last wet. But for one-third of the nation 50,000,000 Americans, prohibition is a living fact today, with most of its old-time concomitants of political debauchery, bribery and homicide . . . More than 25,000,000 of your fellow-citizens live in areas which got no relief from repeal, blocked by state, county, city or even precinct laws, in force, though not necessarily enforced.

And 25,000,000 live where the sale of spirits is sanctioned, but so circumscribed by ridiculous rules and regulations that there is neither license nor liberty, but larceny and corruption.

Only Washington, D. C., and eight States have no dry areas. But in the ostensibly "free" states, including some in the all-wet eight, American horse sense does not yet prevail. In 15 states on-premise consumption is forbidden. If you want a drink you've got to buy a bottle.

And if you think the Kansas election indicated a trend away from blue-nose legislation, you are wrong. . . For every publicized defeat at the polls, the dries quietly come up with a dozen local option victories.

You wouldn't believe that about five per cent of wide open Chicago is dry. Strange, few of the hard-drinking hard-playing citizens there know what's happening in their city.

At the last election, when even Kansas shed its tarpaulin, two out of three Chicago precincts in which local option was on the ballot voted DRY, making the total of such precincts 130 out of 3,400

Illinois is local option (as is New York), but under its peculiar laws local option elections can be held for spots within communities as well as for whole ones. About one-eighth of the population of Illinois lives in dry areas.

Under the trick provisions of the law, dries made considerable headway within the Chicago city limits by the cute expedient of discarding the name "Anti-Saloon League" and masquerading as property-owners' protective leagues

One set-up is a beaut. The local police captain has the final word on punishing liquor violations. They rarely act, of course. And some saloonkeepers back drives to create new neighborhood dry sections—and grab the trade thus shut off.

Mississippi refuses to vote out booze, but, jealous of revenue collected by sister states, it passed a curious bill levying a 10-per cent tax on "gross proceeds of anyone engaged in the business of selling any commodity prohibited for sale or distribution."

Names of bootleggers who make honest returns to the tax collector are not turned over to enforcement officers. Jackson, the state capital, is pretty dry as to on-premise sales. Residents get home deliveries from bootleggers, who operate raw, hire school-children to distribute price lists with dealer's addresses and phone numbers.

Jackson is small in area. A 50-cent cab ride takes you across the Pearl River, in Rankin county, to a section known as the Gold Coast, five minutes from the capitol. Here, on every road, are scores of whitewashed shacks each with a single white light hanging in front, the sign of a dispensary. There is no decent, no door-slot subterfuge. The proprietor comes out, bows, asks your pleasure, serves you. Prices are as reasonable as in New York.

Supplies come from Louisiana, across the Mississippi, or by barge from Cairo, Ill., down the river. The wholesaling is a monopoly of the national racketeer syndicate.

Jimmy Will Drive News-Journal Special

By CHARLEY STINE

Soap Box Derby champion Jimmy Mitchell's car became the "Mansfield News-Journal Special" today with the completion of a special paint job for next week's National race in Akron.

The 13-year-old Crestline boy will drive his car which won the Mansfield Derby against 150 champions from cities all over the United States, Canada, Alaska, and Panama, Sunday, Aug. 14.

In accordance with a rule which makes every winner the representative of the local derby sponsor, Jimmy's championship buggy automatically became the N-J entry.

The racer was repainted a brilliant black by Frank Humbert, Jimmy's sponsor, with the "Mansfield News-Journal" inscription in white on the sides. Five coats of black paint were applied to assure smoothness of the body. The car was sanded after each coat.

It will be the first trip to the national event for Jimmy although he was eligible to see the race last year after driving in the Mansfield eliminations. A cousin, Jimmy Zellner of Crestline, had polio at the time and Jimmy Mitchell didn't get to make the trip.

He will leave Mansfield next Thursday at 8:30 a. m. and will have a grand vacation until the next Monday. All derby drivers are to spend the weekend in "Derbytown," a YMCA camp near Derby Downs. At the camp they will be given the finest food, and opportunities to swim, go boating, horseback riding and participate in other camp activities. A special fireworks display will be held for them.

Trial runs will be made Friday with each boy getting the opportunity to acquaint himself with Derby Downs by driving his car down the racing strip.

Mitchell's car will be on display in the front of the Chevrolet garage at Crestline from 1 to 3 p. m. next Tuesday.

Ohioan Killed

ALLENTOWN — Mrs. Gertrude Dunham, 47, of Massillon, was killed last night when the car in which she was riding was in collision with another auto and a tractor-trailer.

Plan Scout Equipment

Miss Dorothy Scharf, of the national equipment service of the National Girl Scout organization, was in Mansfield yesterday conferring with council members here and Mrs. Robert Boesch, in charge of Girl Scout equipment at Maxwell's.

Miss Scharf worked out a plan with council members whereby equipment would be more easily available both to Scouts and adult leaders, in Mansfield. She was the guest of Miss Margaret Rooney while here.

She will visit Galion, Marion, Ashland and other surrounding towns before returning to New York City.

Stone Tossed Through Gas Station Window

Ralph Hedrick, attendant at the Shell service station, Springfield and Bowman streets, reported to police at 11 p. m. yesterday that a stone had been tossed through a window on the south side of the building.

Hedrick said he saw two small boys and a girl walking down Bowman street, laughing, and believed the stone might have been tossed by the children. Hedrick, however, did not question the youngsters who had disappeared by the time police reached the scene.

Milk Floods Crawford Road

More than 500 gallons of milk flooded Wyandot road, six miles east of Bucyrus, when an Isaly Dairy truck from Mansfield was forced into a ditch by a passing car.

Ralph Schreck, Crawford county sheriff, reported today that Gerald W. Prosser, of Mansfield, who was driving the truck, escaped injury as the cargo section of the truck was demolished and the cab damaged considerably. Schreck said the other driver was not identified as he failed to stop after the near brush Tuesday with the truck.

Recalling 400

DAYTON — The Delco Products division of General Motors corporation announced last night it will recall 400 employees who were furloughed during the last four weeks.

Herring Building Lease Recorded

A lease on the Herring building at Second and Walnut streets was filed yesterday in county recorder's office. The lease granted by Dimon and Florence M. Herring to the Brandenburg Chevrolet, will run from Jan. 1, 1951 to Aug. 31, 1956. The rental is $700 per month.

Old School Up For Sale

The old Newman school building goes on the auction block tomorrow. At noon the 15-room building will be sold at public auction.

Built in the 1880's the building served as an elementary school for hundreds of Mansfielders. A new Newman school building on Central avenue extension will serve the pupils when school opens this fall.

Supt. W. L. Miller said today several inquiries about the building have been made and lively interest is expected at the auction. Neil Robinson, Springfield road, is the auctioneer.

Knox County Reduces Size Of Courtroom

While Richland county hunts for more probate and juvenile courtroom space, Knox county is going to reduce the size of its courtroom.

Knox county commissioners have awarded a $15,280 contract for reducing the 82 - year - old courtroom from a 60-by-60-foot space to less than half that size. They want to use the space for storage and offices.

In Mansfield the situation is different. Judge Stuart H. Cramer asked the county commissioners to vacate their offices to provide a probate-juvenile courtroom.

Richland commissioners said they couldn't do that, but suggested the judge consider using the court of appeals room on the third floor as a courtroom.

Set Mrs. Seith Rites In City

Mrs. George Sigler Seith, 65, a former resident of Mifflin in this vicinity, died at the Camden Park hospital, Parkersburg, W. Va., on Tuesday. Mrs. Seith, a resident of Fort Wayne, Ind., was visiting in Parkersburg when she became ill.

Mrs. Seith was born in Mifflin. She was a member of the Faith Tabernacle at Fort Wayne.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Thelma Clegg of Belleville, W. Va., and two sons, Harold Sigler of San Carlos, Calif., and Lawrence of Fort Wayne.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday from the Finefrock funeral home with Rev. Raymond Keeper of Parkersburg officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after noon Friday.

Galion Polio Victim Taken To Columbus

GALION — Galion's first polio victim is receiving treatment at Children's hospital, Columbus, following his admission Tuesday night.

Billy Smith, two-year-old son of Mrs. Jeanne Lohr Smith, 200 1/2 South Boston street, and Arnold Smith, was taken to Columbus for treatment after his illness was diagnosed as polio.

Loses Bag of Coins On Trip, Canadians Find Them For Him

Howard McAllister, 194 Fairlawn avenue, has no doubts about the honesty of the Canadian people nor the skill of their sleuths.

McAllister saved a sack full of coins to take on his vacation trip to Canada. He wanted to use the U. S. coins so he wouldn't get too many Canadian coins. His party made dozens of stops on the way up and on the way back.

When he got to New York state he discovered he'd lost his coins. There was anywhere from $15 to $45 in the bag, McAllister said. He didn't get a chance to use the money north of the border.

He checked with the Buffalo police—no soap. They didn't know anything about the sack of money and didn't offer any hope that it would be found. So McAllister sent a letter to the Travel and Publicity bureau in Canada. They put their own "Hawshaws" on the trail.

It was like hunting a gold tooth in Fort Knox, but they found it. The investigator wired McAllister he was returning the money. He did not say found.

where the money had been

Now McAllister has had his vacation and still has his coins.

Caucus Set Monday By Tiro Voters

Seek Non-Partisan
Village Candidates

TIRO — A public caucus will be held Monday night in the Tiro village building to select candidates for village offices. The caucus will convene immediately after council meeting. The annual village budget will be presented by Clerk C. R. Davis at the council meeting.

The caucus will be non-partisan. Nominations may be offered by any citizen of Tiro and the caucus may select one or more candidates for each office.

Those nominated will have to file petitions of candidacy with the Crawford County Board of Elections before 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. Officials hope to have enough citizens present at the caucus to have all petitions signed by the required 25 electors.

The present Tiro village officials are mayor—Robert Eckstein; clerk of council—C. R. Davis; treasurer—Glen Raudabaugh; council members—George Norris (president of council), Ralph Buskirk, R. H. Smith, Emmett Flegm, John Neff, Wayne Snyder.

Candidates for township and school district officials are circulating petitions in the community. Two trustees will be selected in each township at fall election and candidates for the position of trustee or member of the board of education must file nominating petitions with the County Board of Elections.

The two Auburn township trustees whose terms expire this year are Frank Bruce and Clem Alt. In Vernon township the terms of trustees Clyde Feick and Wilbur Stephan will expire. Sandusky township trustees Harold Boice and Ira Harrier retire this year and both are not seeking re-election. In Liberty township the terms of Richard Shealy and Kay Scott terminate.

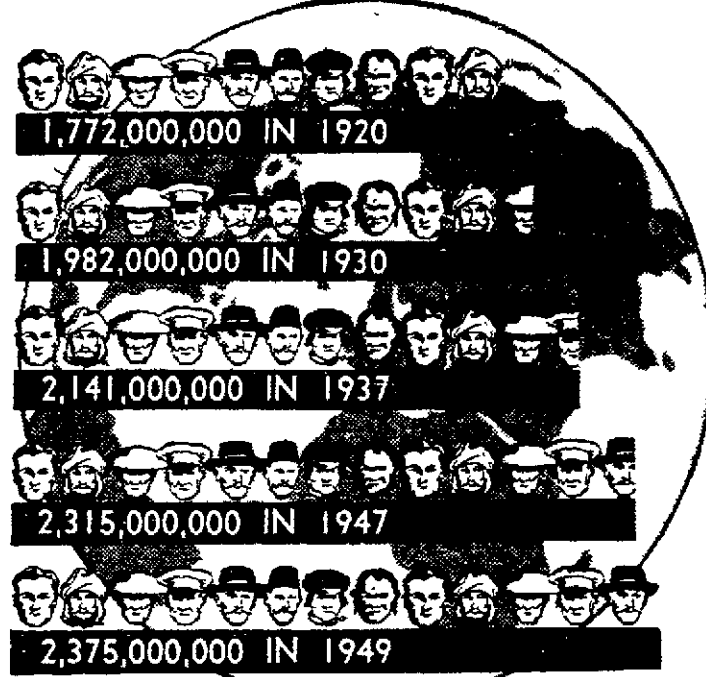

Three members of the board of education of the Tiro school district will be re-elected or replaced this fall. They are: L. M. Pope, Edgar Stephan and Howard Flegm. The terms of Robert Hoffsis, Irvin Stahl, and Irvin Clary of the Sulphur Springs Board of Education expire this year.

Give Concert Tonight

BUCYRUS — A concert will be presented tonight in First Baptist church here by the Bob Jones university musical ensemble of Greenville, S. C. Rev. James Thomas, pastor of the church, announced today.

GIVES DEMONSTRATIONS

LEXINGTON — Joyce Rudrick had charge of demonstrations at last week's meeting of the Sunshine 4-H club members in the home of Mrs. Simon Sief, club advisor. Doris Lenhart presided at the business meeting and Marilyn Sheer read health notes. Ann Algire led the devotions. The health nurse will attend the next club meeting.

FOOD LAGS BEHIND POPULATION — World population is growing faster than food production, says a United Nations survey. Figures in chart show how population has grown since World War I to present 2,375,000,000.

3-WAY POT ROAST

It's often an economy to buy a larger cut of meat and stretch it over several fresh-cooked meals. These three meals you get from a pot roast are each so different you'd scarcely believe they came from the same cut. Come in—we'll show you how to use this idea that helps you save.

NOW-JUICY SMALL ORANGES

GIVE YOU MORE HEALTH FOR YOUR MONEY

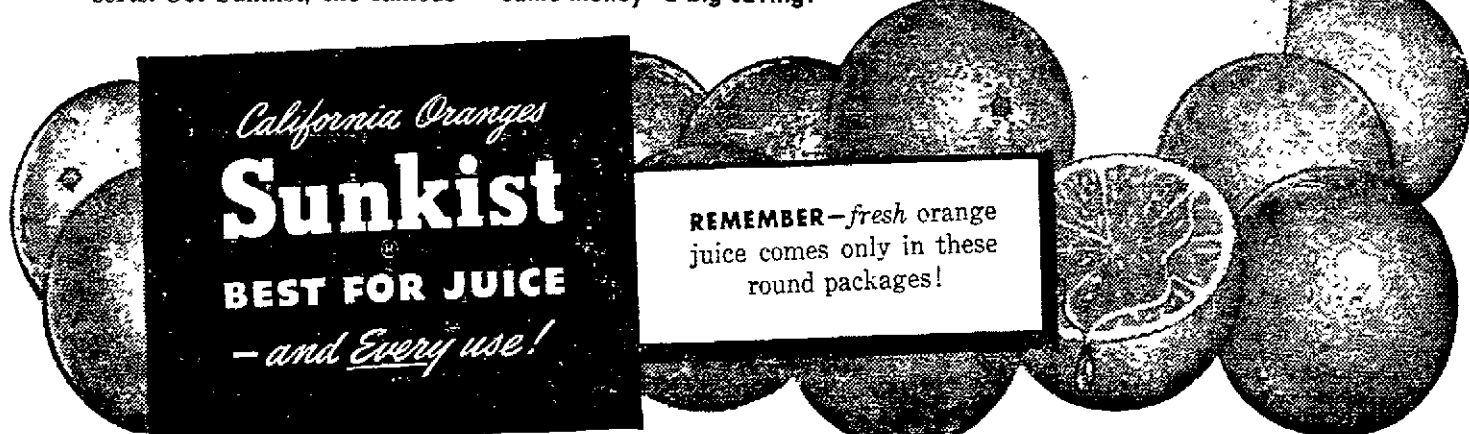

Attention, budget-watchers!—This summer's small oranges are sweet, juicy and crammed full of vitamins C, A and B and important minerals. And a glass of juice from these small oranges costs you less than a glass from large oranges!

Be thrifty! Choose small oranges for juice, salads, desserts. Get Sunkist, the famous top-quality brand, or other good grades from the same California and Arizona growers.

As shown here, small oranges provide more fresh juice for the same money—a big saving!

5 Teachers Yet Needed In Crawford

2 Rural Staff Vacancies Filled

BUCKYRUS — With the hiring of two new instructors, five vacancies still remain in the teaching staffs of Crawford county's 10 rural schools, County School Supt. S. K. Sollars announced today.

Miss Helen Curry of Somerset, O., graduate of Ohio State university, has been hired as commercial teacher at Leesville school and Eugene Smith, a former teacher at nearby Nevada, will teach English and other languages at New Washington. Chatfield has two vacancies; Lykens and Tiro, each one, and a first semester vocational agriculture teacher is needed for Sulphur Springs and Tiro schools under a joint project, Supt. Sollars reported.

Field-Fair Scheduled In Millersburg Area

MILLERSBURG — A Field-Fair will be held at the N. D. Miller farm (formerly the Vernon Crawford farm) one mile east of here on State Routes 39 and 62 beginning Aug. 9 and continuing through Aug. 12.

Tractors and other farm equipment will be on display and demonstrated in the field. Each of the four daily exhibitions will begin at 8 a. m. and continue until 4 p. m.

Shelby Charge Against Dennis Is Dismissed

SHELBY—Mayor William R. Morris dismissed the assault and battery case filed under a city ordinance against Louis A. Dennis, president of the board of the Shelby Mutual Insurance company. The dismissal was requested July 22 by William Snay, 35, of 61 Auburn street, when he filed a state charge against Dennis in Masfield municipal court.

Snay's petition charged Dennis with being abusive and striking him on July 8 following an auto parking incident near the Shelby park swimming pool. At the July 22 request plea the hearing was continued to Tuesday when the dismissal was granted. Dennis posted $500 bond July 25. In Mansfield municipal court for appearing there next Wednesday on the state affidavit. The delay was granted so that Dennis' attorney, Frank C. Long of Shelby, could finish his vacation. Snay alleges the assault occurred when he drove his two daughters to the park swimming pool on July 8.

Holmes FHA Post Given Lakeside Man

MILLERSBURG — Verle H. Spreng, Lakeville, R. D. 1, has been appointed to the advisory committee of the Farmers Home Administration of Holmes county. He succeeds Herald G. Moore, Killbuck, R. D. 1, whose term expired June 30, 1949.

Other members of the board in Holmes county are George W. Devore R. D. 2, Millersburg and Mrs. Ruth Hoerger, Dundee, R. D. 1.

His $35,000 'Not Salary'

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Sen. Bridges (R) N. H., declared Tuesday that the bulk of the $35,000 he gets as a trustee of the United Mine Workers welfare fund goes toward the expenses of the job.

He said his legal expenses are constantly in connection with the job, studies I have made and other expenses. He said he wouldn't break down the figure but added that most of the $35,000 goes toward expenses. He said: "I took this job as public service. But you can't run a 100 million dollar trust fund without constant legal counsel. I've been subject to a number of injunctions and law suits in connection with the fund, and for may own protection I've got to have the best personal counsel."

He said his legal expenses are "substantial." The fund's director, Miss Josephine Roche, revealed in testimony before a Senate committee that Bridges and Ezra Van Horn, Cleveland operator, each get $35,000 a year as trustees.

ROAD SIGN PLANNED

GALION — The Lions club will erect an additional sign on one of the roads leading into the city. This will make a total of four signs which have been erected by the group on major highways.

Returns Home

GALION — Faye Hedding, who was injured seriously in an automobile accident near Mansfield on July 20, has been released from City hospital and taken to the home of her parents near Martel.
